

The Iago Junior High School's Student Council and Yearbook Staff teamed up recently to "Comfort Kids" with a stuffed animal drive. The idea was brought about by Student Council President, Kenna Gibson. Student Council and Yearbook Staff members wanted to give back to our local Wharton County kids. Sometimes our officers are put in situations which involve children needing a little extra comfort in their lives. Iago Junior High teachers and students along with community members all donated 110 brand new stuffed animals. Chief Deputy Russell McDougall, Lieutenant Roddy Rodriguez, and Sergeant Frank Maier were able to pick up these donations to make sure every child who needs comforting will have a special stuffed animal to provide that extra warmth and joy.
