Re: Nutrition Services Bids May 2018 Award Recommendations

Accompanying this memorandum you will find our recommendations for awards under Nutrition Services bids for Food Products, Bread Products, Milk & Dairy Products, and Paper & Cleaning Products for the term July 1, 2018 through June 30, 2018; you will also find recommendations for Fresh Fruit & Produce for the term July 1, 2018 through December 31, 2018.

Award recommendations are generally based on bid price rankings at the line item level, with the low bidder deemed the winning bidder. In some instances, offered bids are not ranked and not considered for award. Where an award recommendation does not strictly follow the low price criterion, we provide an explanation to the bidder as to the reason for the non-ranking. Common causes of non-ranking include:

- Failure to submit a sample as required
- Offering an alternative product without submitting the product for pre-approval
- Offering an alternative that was submitted but not approved

This list is not exhaustive, but representative of the most common causes for non-ranking.

For some items requested under the bid, no award is recommended and these items are omitted from this award recommendations submission. An item no-award is typically caused by one of:

- No bids received for the item
- All bids received for an item are defective (specification nonconformance, for instance)
- The product specification was faulty
- Nutrition Services has opted not to purchase the item for the upcoming term

Where no bids are received or the received bids are defective, Nutrition Services will pursue open market purchasing as necessary. Where a faulty specification occurs, those items will be procured via price quotes from qualified vendors, using a corrected specification.

A full vendor review packet will be posted for vendors to the District website, once the awards are formally approved.

Full copies of bid documentation—original specifications, any addenda, submitted bids, etc.—are available for review and may be acquired by contacting Scott Jacobsen at the District Office.
