

When Scholastic Achievement Flourishes, Regional Development Follows

The Montour mission of enhancing the student experience, promoting critical thinking, and nurturing a multitude of scholastic passions has permeated the homes of West Hills residents for decades. As accolades and national recognition have abounded, so has the will of families wishing to relocate to one of our district's eclectic neighborhoods. In response to this growing demand for a comprehensive educational experience, stalwart developers have embarked on numerous ventures to create and sustain modernized housing options for budding professionals and their families.

On July 28th, community leaders and local officials gathered in Kennedy Township for the unveiling of 'Sir Henry's Haven', a luxury sequence of elegant patio homes developed by Duckstein Properties. While the West Hills possesses no shortage of amenities, Montour School District undoubtedly serves as the primary attraction for those endeavoring to establish a primary residence in southwestern Pennsylvania.

An enthused Todd Price, Principal of Montour High School, beamed when queried about the meaning of such robust development within the district. Price stated, "While we boast unparalleled facilities at Montour, our most valuable asset is our student body. The fact that families want to relocate here is a testament to the tireless efforts of our students, both in the classroom and in the community. We're beyond excited to welcome these folks into our district, and look forward to increasing our standing as a regional destination school."

School Board President Thomas Barclay echoed this sentiment, saying, "Montour possesses inexhaustible potential. Our educators are innovators and our students exude the true spirit of educational excellence. With that in mind, it's no surprise that families want to be a part of the Montour mission, affording their children the best prospects for future success."
