Aloha,
Our Future Health Care Professionals!

Welcome back AHS students!

We hope that you all had a good summer and that your first month of school has gone well! This year will be filled with fun events that our teachers and Student Board of Directors (SBOD) have planned and organized.

We wish you all a good luck with this school year!

Over the summer, seventeen students from the academy are becoming the first students to receive the Pharmacist Technician certification before they graduate high school. They finished 96 hours of training at school and will be starting their internship hours soon. A big thanks to CVS, Kapiolani Community College, and Instructor Erica for helping the students reach this goal. Congratulations to the academy students that participated in the program!

Another program students of the academy during the summer was Medical Biotech. This was a 5-week program funded by the Public Schools of Hawaii Foundation, and supported by Rutgers University. With this program, students acquired various laboratory skills and publications for the National Center for Biotechnology Information (NCBI), many of our students were among the first batch of publications for school year 2018-2019. Once again, congratulations, AHS students! Keep up the hard work!
The Medical Assisting program is a rigorous program that only expects the best from you. The program teaches you administrative and clinical skills within the workspace. It also opens your eyes to new situations, and ways to handle each one in the best way possible. You take college classes throughout your senior year and do externship hours during the summer to take your certification exam to become a licensed Medical Assistant. Taking part in this program means you need to be on top of everything, and you must be willing to sacrifice your time for this program. My time during this program has opened my mind to new experiences and situations that I wouldn’t have even known how to handle until now. To those who might be considering joining the Medical Assisting program: my biggest word of advice would be for you to stay on top of things [to the best of your ability], as well as always asking for help from your classmates and instructors if needed.”
