

Independent & Parochial School Tuition Assistance Grants

Over the past five years, The Charles Ellis Trust for Girls has awarded over five million dollars in tuition assistance grants to students attending independent and parochial high schools.

BACKGROUND

The Charles Ellis Trust for Girls helps young women of limited financial means, living in single-parent homes, enhance their high school experience and prepare for post-secondary success. Each year The Ellis Trust awards grants to eligible young women, residing in Philadelphia, to support their education and life goals by providing tuition assistance for students attending independent and parochial high schools. The mission is to change lives by providing funds to enhance girls' high school experience and encourage their life pursuits. More information about The Ellis Trust for Girls including information on our assistance for students in public schools can be found at www.ellistrust.org.

HOW TO APPLY FOR A GRANT

The Ellis Trust application process is now online and accessible via smart phone, tablet and/or personal computer. The online application for the 2019/2020 school year can be accessed at www.ellistrust.org on January 1, 2019. Applicants must complete the Ellis Trust application online to be considered for a tuition assistance grant. Current 8th grade students should apply now for consideration for high school tuition assistance.

DEADLINE

Applications for tuition assistance grants must be submitted online by midnight on Friday, March 15, 2019.

NOTIFICATION

Applicants will be notified of grant decisions by May 1, 2019. If you are approved, the grant payments will be made directly to the school. Applicants must reapply for funding each year; grants are not automatically renewed.
