How else would you know it’s spring?

What do you like to see pop when it’s spring?

Which parts of nature pop out, and which parts pop up?

What is the main idea of the book? What are some details that support the main idea?