It's Conference Time!

In the Central Valley School District, we consider parents and teachers to be partners, actively involved in your child's education. Because we both want your child to find success in learning, we need a time to plan and work together.

Conference time provides that opportunity for us to meet and discuss your child's growth. As a result of these conferences, we will become better partners, working together for your child's continued educational progress.

As we have a limited amount of time, it may be helpful to plan your questions in advance. We cannot cover everything, but you may wish to consider some of these questions:

- How is my child doing in mathematics, reading, etc.?
- Has my child shown any special interests or abilities?
- Does my child need close supervision, or can s/he work alone?
- When is my child taught in groups and what is the range of the groups?
- When is my child taught individually?
- Do you feel my child is working as well as can be expected?
- What do your marks on daily papers mean?
- How can I support my child's learning at home?

Conference Week Schedule:
Early Release at 12:30 pm for all students
