Dear Friend of Community Prep,

As you will see in this year’s Annual Report, it has been an amazing year for Community Preparatory School. Our community’s response to the current pandemic has been particularly admirable. We made the decision to close the school on Friday, March 13. A couple of hours after we made that decision, the Governor followed suit for all schools in Rhode Island. Our teachers took the next week to prepare for online classes, and distance learning began on Monday, March 23. We learned a lot as we worked through the kinks in our first week of implementation, and our students finished the year having four-day academic weeks. In the coming year, we will take what we learned and provide five days of learning each week, which incorporates distance learning when necessary.

We applaud each of our teachers who dedicated themselves to making virtual learning as valuable and engaging as it is in the physical classroom. We are extremely lucky to have two Fuse Fellows on our teaching staff, who have been trained by the Highlander Institute to enhance their students’ educational experience. We are also especially grateful for our teachers who are computer whizzes, as I am not one.

We celebrated our 35 graduates with a drive-by parade through each of their neighborhoods. As you will see in the Annual Report, our graduates are going to excellent schools that include Bishop Feehan, Classical, La Salle, Lincoln, Moses Brown, Providence Country Day, Rocky Hill, St. Andrew’s, Trinity Academy for the Performing Arts, and Wheeler. They accepted $2,000,000 in scholarships and financial aid to further their education. Over the years, our graduates have received over $36,000,000 in financial aid to attend high schools, colleges and grad schools. Your investment in our students has been multiplied many times over by that return on investment. As our students live the values and ideals generated through their Community Prep education, it is rewarding to recognize the income and benefits they have generated for their families and communities as well.

As we continue to brave the challenges ahead, we welcome you to visit our school’s virtual tour, as visitors will not be allowed in the school for the foreseeable future. You are very much a part of our students’ many successes.

Thank you,

Dan Corley
Head of School
Dear Friends,

What a year of challenge, and terrific response, by so many.

The coronavirus quickly landed in our community and required an immediate response. Our teachers and administrators developed and implemented a distance-learning program with speed and agility, and thereafter adjusted that program to maximize its effectiveness. Our students and parents embraced these changes and provided the time, dedication, and support that made distance learning work so successfully. Together, Community Preparatory School’s team of teachers, administrators, students, and parents rose and countered the challenge with excellence.

Throughout this year, Community Prep donors gave generously to the school. Through donations, special events, and grants, we raised $1,388,000 in scholarship funds. In addition, we brought in $349,000 in endowment gifts and $314,000 in building improvement gifts. These donations allowed the school to purchase the former convent located 15 feet from our back entrance along Tanner Street. This purchase preserves the option for Community Prep to expand in future years. We are all excited about the long-term possibilities this additional land gives the school.

Community Prep celebrated its 35th anniversary at Agawam Hunt with 170 attendees made up of alumni, parents, teachers, former staff, and friends of the school. The event netted $93,000, which supported our scholarship fund. Kinte Howie’s (’11) keynote speech highlighted the “pledge to ourselves” that he and other alumni remember so well from their years at the school. It bears repeating this pledge that many of our graduates have lived by for many years:

“This day has been given to me fresh and clear.
I can either use it or throw it away.
I promise that I will use this day fully, realizing it will never come back again.
I realize that this is my life to use or throw away.”

I have had the pleasure of serving on the Board of Trustees at Community Prep since 2009, and this is my last year as Chair. I have been so fortunate to get to know and work with many fine students, employees and Trustees. I welcome and congratulate Lou Amoriggi as Community Prep’s next Chair, who will be carrying the mission forward.

ENROLLMENT
- 127 students (total enrollment in 1984 was 25)
- Typical class size: 18 students
- 55% male / 45% female
- 70% of students live in Providence
- 51% are children of immigrants or are immigrants themselves, representing 28 countries

FINANCIAL AID
85% of our students receive substantial financial aid. Every student who is accepted is welcome regardless of the family’s ability to pay the full $16,400 tuition. All families are expected to make a reasonable contribution to their child’s tuition.

FUNDING
80% of the school’s operating budget is funded through donations; tuition and fees cover only 20%. Traditional independent schools generate 80 to 90% of their budgets from tuition.
Donors

Endowment provides for Community Prep’s future. The school’s long-term goal is to have 40% of its annual operating costs covered by the income from endowment. Each year we budget spending 4% of our endowment fund’s four-year average. In FY’20 the amount budgeted was 35%.

Annual Report 2020
I grew up in Coventry, Rhode Island, and attended public school before being accepted to Dartmouth College as a first-generation college student. I would not have been able to attend without generous financial assistance. Access to quality education and financial need starts earlier and earlier than ever, and that's why I’m so passionate about Community Prep. Every child deserves the opportunity to become the best version of his/herself.

I knew about Community Prep from my first job out of college, working in the Admissions Office at Lincoln School. Community Prep students were frequent Lincoln Scholar winners then as now. Fast forward “several” years, I was re-introduced to the school in 2004 when the school was looking for an architect to join the Buildings & Grounds committee. I’ve been a fixture on B&G ever since.

Over the next 10 years I drew countless plans and conceptual designs as CP sought to maximize its school building and site, but the school was too landlocked to do much. I became chair of the B&G committee, and while biding time on a grand plan, I undertook a facilities assessment of the existing 1959-era building. Overall, the building had been well tended, but the original boilers were beyond the end of their useful life. Donors immediately stepped up to fund the boiler replacement project. I was surprised that donors were so willing to fund a less than glamorous project. In 2015, the school was finally able to close a portion of Somerset Street, build an addition and a playing field/green space.

One of my most rewarding experiences at Community Prep, besides the ribbon cutting for a real Community Prep campus, was the class with 7th graders as part of Lou Amoriggi’s Junior Achievement Class. It was great fun using the actual Community Prep 3D computer model as a visual aid to describe the profession of architecture. The students were so receptive, eager, and interested in the design of their school building, the technology, and what an architect earns!

In addition to being a trustee since 2010, I have served on the Long-Range Planning and Nominations and Governance Committees. My fellow trustees are both generous and inspiring. I joined the Founders Society to do all I can to support the continued excellence and impact of Community Prep.

Total scholarships accepted: $1,878,612

Since 1984, 97% of Community Prep’s 879 graduates have been accepted into college-preparatory high-schools programs, including highly competitive independent schools across New England.
Community Preparatory School serves culturally and economically diverse students who are well qualified to benefit from a rigorous academic education in an atmosphere of mutual respect. We engage with all facets of our students -- intellectual curiosity, joyful learning, awareness of their own strengths, the rewards and satisfaction of determination, and a deep connection to our community and the larger world. We prepare our students to thrive in the most competitive high schools and to become community leaders.

Community Preparatory School challenges students to become confident, independent learners and develops a strong sense of public service through community service and stewardship. We engage parents, students and teachers in goal-setting and planning that ensures academic and social success for each student.

At Community Preparatory School, “inclusion” is an umbrella term that includes race, gender, ethnicity, culture, nationality, sexual orientation, gender identity, social/economic class, physical and learning differences, and religion, as well as other characteristics that contribute to each individual’s full identity.

Our goal is to nurture and sustain an environment in which all students, alumni, families, faculty, staff, trustees, volunteers and visitors are recognized and valued both as members of the school community and as irreplaceable individuals.

The ideal that guides us is Martin Luther King, Jr.’s vision of the “Beloved Community”: widely different groups of people bound together with love and respect, working toward a just society and understanding that our differences are our strength. In pursuit of this goal, we are committed to moving from mere tolerance to active work against discrimination within our community and in the world. We will help students to become leaders in the fight against intolerance and teach them to work toward a just and equitable society. We understand that achieving our goal requires dedication and perseverance. We ask everyone in our community to commit themselves to this goal.
Come together, go far.

“I am going to miss all my classmates and all the good memories I’ve made with them. I’ll especially miss the feeling of home every time I walk into the building and seeing someone welcome me with a smile. CP is a great school and has shown me the importance of being a kind person.”

- Ava Soch, Class of 2020
