Our librarian Lori Schneider received a community impact grant from Albertsons. The grant was built around bringing local professional artists into collaboration with young high school artists to design a mural inside of the library that sparks connection and community. She called on Chris Bovey and Jamie Flannery, two talented local artists and 5 art students from Jennifer Compau's art class and one leadership student from Samantha Kern's Leadership class and gave them the task of visualizing, designing and painting a mural together. The project is underway. It is about 50% done .
