

April 26, 2018

Subject: E. coli outbreak associated with Chopped Romaine

Dear Valued Customer:

- The CDC to date has indicated Chopped Romaine produced in the Yuma, Arizona growing region can possibly be contaminated with E. coli 0157:H7
- At this time no common grower, supplier, distributor has been identified
- As of April 3rd, 2018 Gargiulo Produce has not shipped any Romaine Product grown or produced in the Yuma region of Arizona

All Romaine products which are now in rotation within Gargiulo Produce and Hillside Harvest have been sourced from Florida and the Salinas, California growing region. This includes whole romaine, romaine hearts, chopped romaine and romaine salad blends.

Dean Mentonis
Food Safety Director

535 Sweetland Ave
Hillside, NJ 07205

PHONE
FAX
E-MAIL

(908) 233-8222
(555) 555-0125
foodsafety@gargiuloproduce.com