

Here for you....

This group was formed as a resource to facilitate parents to support each other. We meet to understand what our child's IEP means, what we can do to support the school as they support our child, and learn what we can do to help our child grow and find success.

Run by

Why Attend?

Whether it's something in your child's IEP that you don't understand or you are encountering a new issue or challenge and want some advice, the Parent Group is here to support you.

Topics & Speakers

From behavior management to transition services to specialists in different areas, the Special Education department assists the Parent Group in securing guest speakers on topics suggested by you, the meeting participants.

You

The parent group is full of parents with children of varying ages with varying issues that impact their education.

are not

The parents who attend offer decades of combined experience parenting a child with special needs. We are also supported by the district's educational professionals to offer training and advice when needed.

alone

No matter why your child has an IEP, special education can be very confusing. Every parent wants to make sure their child is getting everything they need. The Parent Group is here you. Please join us.
