

Good morning parents!

We want to take a moment to explain a little about the packet being sent home this afternoon. "The Home Learning Packet" was designed to be materials for 3 weeks. There is an outline of pages to do every day - five (5) in fact. Please do not feel you need to complete all five pages every day. Do two or three a day, then read a story or play an educational game. Most of this packet is review, however there is some subtraction and telling time. We are to work on subtraction during this last grading period and telling time is not a kindergarten state standard, but we usually work on telling time on the hour. We feel your child will be able to complete these sheets with your assistance. Help your child as much as needed to work through these materials. The i-Ready math packet was designed to work one a page day.

With all this said, PLEASE understand we do not expect you to do 6 worksheets a day with your child!! Complete a few pages each day and you will make it through the packet. A word list has also been included so you can work on these words. Remember these are words to read by sight - not spending time on each one to sound it out!
