J. SUPERINTENDENT’S REPORT

1. Innovation Grant

Dr. Bruton, Superintendent, presented information regarding flexible furniture, MakerSpace, Camp CREATE and other past innovative ideas. She reported that Ms. Hackett at SLVMS had the idea to implement Writers’ Workshop at the middle school, which sparked the idea for the Innovation Grant. The idea for the Innovation Grant is to encourage new, creative educational ideas for our students. The process is as follows: staff has an idea that is presented to the site Principal, the Principal would review and if approved, the grant would be submitted to the District Office for Cabinet to review. Cabinet would then make the final decision and make any necessary funding allocations.

The Board asked if there was a budgeted amount, timeline, and if the same amount would be appropriated to each school.

Dr. Bruton explained that the grant is open-ended, that there is no deadline to submit at this time. It will be open through the first semester of 2018-19 and that there is no set amount appropriated for each school.

The Board is in full support of the Innovation Grant to stimulate new innovative and creative ideas. The Board is also pleased to hear of the success (so far) with the flexible furniture in supporting choices for students.

Dr. Bruton stated that a follow-up report would be brought back to the Board in regards to the outcome of the Innovation Grant.

K. REPORTS / PRESENTATIONS

1. BCE Data Board PresentationFosburgh

Ms. Denise Fosburgh, BCE Principal, announced that both BCE and SLVE Back-to-School nights were on Thursday and would be a great opportunity to see the flexible furniture classrooms.

Due to technical problems, Ms. Fosburgh began her presentation with the Physical Fitness Testing, showing positive results. She then reported on student discipline, which was down by seven suspensions, giving the credit of this decrease to the success of PBIS implementation. Although the annual parent survey had a low participation rate, the results were positive in all areas, which included: quality instruction, safety- both emotionally and physically, caring adults at school, classroom rules and expectations are clear and consistent, feeling welcome at BCE, and the overall satisfaction with communication. She continued with ELA scores. Even though the overall score went down, both the 3rd and 5th grades saw an increase. BCE will continue to work on specific claims and how questions were asked on the test. They will also continue to work on building student stamina as the assessments are very long. Teachers will continue to use data from the tests and Illuminate. The Math scores went down similar to the ELA scores.

The next steps for the staff are to work with the Data Coach, emphasize reading and writing in math, use tech to support learning and to emphasize perseverance. The Math Coach will provide intervention support for students, as well as work with teachers. Going forward, BCE will participate in grade level collaboration with SLVE, increase the use of CAASPP interim assessments, provide additional academic and social/emotional support for the current 5th grade class, and focus on data review both at grade and classroom levels.

The Board asked some clarifying questions and made comments. They were pleased with the emphasis on data, casting a wide net for improvement, the focus on persistence and building stamina, and stressing perseverance. The Board thanked Ms. Fosburgh for the presentation.

2. SLVHS Data Board Presentation..... Calden

Mr. Jeff Calden, SLVHS Principal, stated that this data was shared with the staff on their first day back to work. Although the focus was on math, three of the five math department staff were new last year. As staff reviewed the data, they also reviewed structural pieces, current practices, and asked the overarching question of how do they help students. The 11th grade math scores dropped by 10%. During this review, structural discoveries were made and evaluated. The high school will put a new practice into place so that most freshmen are placed in a Math 1 class, most sophomores are placed in a Math 2 class, and most juniors are placed in a Math 3 class. Higher performing students may take Math 1 in 8th grade. This will be in conjunction with a department-wide new after-school intervention program that is designed to reteach the concepts not mastered during class. Teachers will teach, assess, review data and reteach as appropriate. This cycle will be repeated. Teachers will teach major math concepts, teaching them deeper for mastery to build a better base understanding. Time will also be provided for teachers to collaborate. Mr. Calden praised the Math Department for their work and for trying something new. The ELA scores remained flat at 81% proficient. A grade bump was offered last year for students to be encouraged to not only take the test, but to take the test seriously. Language Arts will begin using the CAASPP interim assessments in their classes this year. Also, a new NPR-based program that is designed to improve listening skills will be used in Social Studies. Listening skills has remained the lowest claim for LA and math for the last three years.

The Physical Fitness test results were shared showing 88% of 177 freshmen considered as “physically fit”, and AP test results were also shared using a world-wide comparison showing SLV higher in all areas, with the exception of Spanish. Student discipline is down considerably from 15-16 when there were 60 suspensions compared to the 17 suspensions for 17-18. This decrease is attributed to additional Mental Health Counseling services and the addition of a School Resource Office (SRO). Mr. Calden also shared the "add and drop" data since 2013-14 to present. This data reflected a decrease of 23.7% of students leaving the high school to a COE program. Lastly, the parent survey data, with over 100 participants, was shared. Most of this data represented from 82% to a 99% satisfaction rate. The areas surveyed included the academic program, school environment, and communication. One of the most alarming discoveries was that only 35% felt that the teacher contacted parents when there were academic concerns in comparison to 60% when there were behavioral concerns.

The Board thanked Mr. Calden for the presentation and had no further questions.
