

Position: Special Education Teachers (Resource and Self-Contained)

About IDEA

IDEA Public Charter School in Washington, DC challenges, motivates, and strengthens the intellect of all of our students, whether they are pursuing paths to college, the workforce, or the military. Founded in 1997, IDEA is located in a state-of-the-art educational facility in the historic Deanwood community. In addition to rigorous core academics, IDEA offers the Academy of Construction and Design to teach skilled trades, early childhood education classes, US Army Junior ROTC, green initiatives, and interscholastic sports. Exceptional teachers and leaders are the key to unlocking the potential of every IDEA student.

IDEA is a great fit for teachers who:

- Enjoy developing strong, individual relationships with students in a small high school environment
- Appreciate the opportunity to collaborate with peers and grow with the support of a cadre of leaders
- Seek exceptional compensation and benefits within the DC charter sector

As a special education teacher at IDEA you will:

- Believe that all students are capable of achieving their dreams and support them in the pursuit of those dreams
- Use a range of data points to plan and lead engaging, collaborative, and outcome-driven instruction in a co-teaching model
- Provide students with meaningful feedback to enhance learning
- Serve as a case manager, overseeing IEPs and transition planning
- Integrate literacy and school-wide cultural themes into student learning
- Collaborate with colleagues and school leaders and receive and provide feedback to drive growth within your own classroom and the school
- Contribute to the achievement of the school's Performance Management Framework goals through data-driven instruction and commitment to the school's Five Guiding Principles
- Communicate and partner with students' families

Qualifications

- Highly Qualified status (bachelor's degree and appropriate Praxis exam(s) required)
- Two years of teaching experience in a high-need, high-performing school and evidence of impact on student learning in that setting (preferred)

Compensation

To honor the exceptional commitment of our teachers, IDEA provides compensation matching DC Public Schools' exceptional pay scale as well as healthcare, wellness, and retirement benefits.
