

Child Study Major

Early College Program
Fall Registration 2019

This Early College program offers a distinct college and career pathway in Child Study, enabling you to earn up to thirty college credits toward the Child Study major with SJC leading to the BA degree in Child Study while at Fontbonne Hall Academy. If you are considering a career in child study or speech pathology, you will take the requisite course in Child Study here and would follow the career path in child study by taking those courses listed below that are required for the major at SJC. You will also complete SPC 102-- Introduction to Human Communication on the St. Joseph's College campus in the spring of your senior year; this results in a true, early college experience. Upon completion of each course, you will receive the appropriate number of college credits as listed in the St. Joseph's College Course Catalogue. In addition, St. Joseph's College will award a $3,000 CSJ Grant to any merit based SJC scholarship. "Child Study is a hallmark program of St. Joseph's College, providing an outstanding education that is consistently ranked among the best teaching programs in the New York metropolitan area. The teacher education program is registered and fully accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP)."
