Dear Mustang Families,

Tonight is Back to School Night (BTSN)! While it’s exciting to introduce our teachers to you, it is somewhat bitter-sweet in that I will not be able to greet you all and see you on campus. Our traditional BTSN is really quite something to see. From my perspective, the whole community turns out. I know it’s not everyone, but it sure seems that way. I love it because of the mass of positive energy; all the smiles and the gratitude. I also like showing off our teachers. They’re the best. I promise that as soon as we’re allowed, we’ll have another BTSN on campus this year.

For this BTSN, you will need to login to your student’s Google Classroom and go class to class to watch their video presentations. The teachers will post them on the “Stream” for each class....some might post it under “Classwork.” At your leisure, you will be to enjoy each video presentation to get a sense of each teacher’s vision for the class, what your students will learn, and what the expectations are for success. If you need assistance accessing BTSN through Google Classroom, check out Navigating Google Classroom on the right side of this page.

If after watching the video, you still can not login to your student’s Google Classroom for BTSN tonight, we will be waiting to help you in the Virtual Front Office (VFO) through Zoom. We will be open from 6:00-6:30 pm. today, and you can access VFO easily on the right side of this page.

If there is no video for one of your student’s classes, please be patient. We are all also learning while we’re teaching. Eventually, every teacher will post an orientation video for every class. Please keep checking back in until you can hear from all your student’s teachers.

Please click on my BTSN 2020 Principal’s Message on the right side of this page. I hope you can sense my feelings of hope. Together we can work toward a realization of that hope - one where we can get back on campus safely to learn, to socialize, to play, and to compete. Be strong, be safe, be healthy, be responsible, be great, and remain hopeful.

Sincerely,

Ben Dale
Principal

Join the PTSA today!
Click HERE to join and continue to support our teachers in the classroom!

Next general meeting
September 17 click HERE to join.