FULLERTON SCHOOL DISTRICT JHS and HS Parent Information Meetings for Incoming Students

(Fullerton, CA) – Does your child have dreams of being on stage? If they do, make sure you visit Ladera Vista Junior High School of the Arts. This school has been designated the honor of an Arts Schools Network member. Ladera Vista Junior High School of the Arts offers an innovative arts-based education centered on academic excellence. The school offers 35 arts based electives and an arts-integrated approach in all academic core classes. Students may select from a variety of arts pathways, and may participate in a thriving after school Arts Conservatory Program.

Maybe your child has a passion for robotics. If that is the case, then you should visit Nicolas Junior High School, which offers a pathway for computer science and is home to a new FESTO lab, the only one in all of North America.

Did you know that Pre-AP classes are offered at Parks Junior High School? Parks Junior High School was the first FSD school to offer Middle College, a program offered in collaboration with Fullerton College to provide students with the opportunity to explore different college and career pathways while earning college credit. The courses are offered at the school site after school hours.
