Utilizing technology to learn-This year, at Leavitt, we want to encourage the daily use of technology in and out of the classroom to further enhance the educational experience. As such, Leavitt will be providing students with individual devices in all grade levels to utilize in class and at home. Students may choose to utilize their own electronic tablets (ipads, Kindle Fire, Samsung, etc.) cell phones, laptops, and reading devices for educational purposes.

HOME PRACTICE

It is essential for students to put in quality practice time at home. Once a concept is presented in class it should be practiced at home so it is ready for the next class meeting. Class time should be used for students to work on their skills for playing together as an ensemble. Our orchestra is a team and the entire team suffers if one of its members is unprepared. Students should be ready for a playing quiz at any time and generally given every Friday with exceptions of weeks that we are not prepared for the quiz. These quizzes are to ensure that they have practiced the material we have covered in class. In order for the practice time to be productive, students must practice consistently and it should be done in a quiet room without the interruption of TV, phone calls, family and friends. Practice logs will be assigned and due on Monday and late starting Tuesday. The students will be able to fill out their practice logs on line in their Google Classroom or by paper if they choose to. If practice logs are turned in a week late they will be assessed at 50% as we will have moved on to building on previous skills.

Home practice is a vital part of Orchestra class.

All Orchestra Students Are Required to Practice 30 Minutes Every Day

CONCERT ATTENDANCE:

Please remember that the educational experiences lost during an absence are irretrievable as the interactions in the classroom setting can seldom be duplicated through make-up work. Being absent from school will have a negative impact on your individual learning, but will also affect the entire orchestra. Should you find it necessary to miss a concert, you need to check with your stand partner and/or section leader regarding what you missed. It is the student's responsibility to turn in their makeup work in a timely manner without being reminded!

Attendance Expectations for Performances

In order for the group to be complete and function as a cohesive unit, all members must be prepared for, and attend every concert and dress rehearsal. Performance dates are given at the beginning of the year so that students and parents will have time to plan accordingly.

Concert Absence

Concerts are a required part of the Orchestra classes, and a large part of a student's grade. Please put the concert dates on your calendar ASAP (see dates at the end of the packet). Please inform the Director as soon as possible when you know you will have to miss a concert. Examples of acceptable excuses for missing a concert are 1) Death in your immediate family, 2) If you or an immediate family member are in the hospital and 3) Illness, you will need to provide a Doctor's note. An EXCUSED student will be given an assignment which will serve as a makeup grade, but will be assessed at a maximum grade of a "C."

CONCERT ATTIRE

INSTRUMENT GUIDELINES AND CARE

We are extremely lucky to have a small number of instruments provided to use by the school. However it is still necessary for students to rent or purchase their own, because the number of orchestra students far exceeds the number of instruments we have. The benefits of having your own instrument include being able to choose something of higher quality, which will in turn improve your overall sound. It is also helpful to be able to practice over the summers. Student's who own high quality instruments are strongly encouraged to use them in class each day. This is extremely important to the growth of the students musician. This means carrying the instrument to and from school every day. Students and their parents should try to make whatever arrangements are necessary to make this work. Exceptions can be made for cellos and basses because of their size. However, cello and bass students may choose to bring their own instruments for dress rehearsals and/or test days, and must bring them for concerts. Students should not bring their instruments to school and leave them for extended periods of time for two reasons: 1) If your instrument is at school, that means you do not have one at home to practice with, and 2) The school is not responsible for any damages occurred to a personal instrument. Whether you use your own instrument (rented or purchased) or a school instrument, it is important that you realize these are fragile instruments and must be taken care of accordingly. A few things you should remember: Your case is not "ultimate" protection. You still must be extra careful with your instrument!!!

- NEVER leave your instrument in the car. Just 10 minutes in the extreme heat of a car can destroy an instrument!!
- When you are finished playing, always wipe the rosin off of your instrument and loosen your bow!!
- The only people that should touch your instrument are you, me, professional musicians, and repair men or women.
- In order to adequately execute correct technical facility of ALL string instruments, it is necessary for fingernails to be kept short, to the point of no white showing. This is imperative to proper technical development, and facilitates the natural technical progression of the student. Optimal playing test grades could be strongly affected without proper maintenance of nails and understanding of nail length as stated above. Improper nail length can also lead to shorter string life and can damage the fingerboard of an instrument, leading to a costly repair.

ACTIVITIES AND TRIPS

Depending on the success of the orchestra, opportunities may arise for us to participate in special off-campus activities and/or trips. Participation in such activities must be earned and should be viewed as a privilege. If a student has worked hard (attended all required rehearsals and performances) and exhibited a pattern of trustworthy behavior throughout the year, then they will be invited to participate. Otherwise, I will take into consideration the student's academic and discipline record in my class as well as all other classes before a decision is made. If a student has been placed on discipline action of any kind during the year, they will need to check with the director to see if they will be allowed to participate. Should we decide to travel, all details about the trip will be sent home well in advance, and students will have an opportunity to fundraise to help cover the cost of the trip. In the case of trips/competitions, the student must score a "C" or higher on their playing tests.

FUNDRAISING

Our orchestra will participate in several fundraising events this year. These are very important because they give our orchestra the necessary funds to buy new music, equipment, and attend various field trips. A fundraising activity is only successful if everyone participates and since EVERYONE benefits from the money earned, it is expected that everyone contribute in some way. If you choose not to participate in the fundraising, a donation is always appreciated!!

SUGGESTED MATERIALS FOR ORCHESTRA MUSICIANS

1. FOLDER WITH POCKETS AND 3 HASPS
