CHARTER SCHOOL INTENT AND CHARTER REQUIREMENTS

It is the intent of the California Legislature, in enacting the Charter Schools Act of 1992, to provide opportunities for teachers, parents, pupils, and community members to establish and maintain schools that operate independently from the existing school district structure, as a method to accomplish all of the following:

(a) Improve pupil learning.

(b) Increase learning opportunities for all pupils, with special emphasis on expanded learning experiences for pupils identified as academically low achieving.

(c) Encourage the use of different and innovative teaching methods.

(d) Create new professional opportunities for teachers, including the opportunity to be responsible for the learning program at the school-site.

(e) Provide parents and pupils with expanded choices in the types of educational opportunities that are available within the public school system.

(f) Hold the schools established under this part accountable for meeting measurable pupil outcomes, and provide the schools with a method to change from rule-based to performance-based accountability systems.

(g) Provide vigorous competition within the public school system to stimulate continual improvements in all public schools.

The John Adams Academy shall accomplish all of these goals. It will:

1. Improve scholar learning through an innovative educational program designed to teach state standards through classical texts and historical documents.

2. Increase learning opportunities for all scholars through both in-class and service learning opportunities.

3. Encourage the use of different and innovative teaching methods because teachers will be expected to design their lessons with multiple intelligences in mind and classical texts as tools.

4. Create new professional opportunities for teachers by allowing them to have flexibility in designing lesson plans with textbooks as a support system rather than primarily relying on textbooks as many public schools do.
5. Provide parents and scholars with expanded choice in the types of educational opportunities that are available to them within the public school system through the innovative curriculum.

6. Provide accountability to the Academy through adherence to state testing and accountability systems.

7. Provide vigorous competition to other El Dorado County schools, particularly in the areas of foreign language fluency, classical education and service learning.

The Charter Schools Act (the “Act”) (Education Code Sections 47600 et seq.) requires each charter school to have a “charter” that outlines at least the fifteen (15) mandatory items of the Act. The following provisions of this charter coincide with the requirements of Section 47605 of the Act.

INTRODUCTION

John Adams Academy - El Dorado Hills (the “Academy” or the “Charter School”) is petitioning for approval of its charter petition pursuant to Education Code Section 47605 for a five-year term from July 1, 2017 to June 30, 2022.

The Academy is requesting the sponsorship of the El Dorado County Board of Education/El Dorado County Office of Education” (“EDCOE,” or collectively referred to as the “County” or the “Authorizer”).

The Academy will be authorized as a TK-12 program that operates both classroom-based and non-classroom-based instructional programs. The Academy will likely begin its first year of operations with grades K-6, but reserves the right to expand this to include additional grades as scholar demand and facilities allow. The Academy expects to expand to include all of grades TK-12 by year seven (7) of the charter.

The Academy will be operated by the Board of Directors (the “Board”) of John Adams Academies, Inc., a California non-profit public benefit corporation (the “Corporation”). The Board also operates and governs the John Adams Academy-Roseville, a public charter school authorized by the Loomis Union Elementary School District, which opened in 2011 in Roseville, and the John Adams Academy-Lincoln, a public charter school authorized by the Western Placer Unified School District, which is planned to open in fall 2017.

Founded in 2011, John Adams Academy is Northern California's only tuition-free, TK-12 Classical Leadership Education charter school. Located in Roseville, California, John Adams Academy is preparing future leaders and statesmen through principle-based education centered in classics and great mentors. Scholars enjoy a classical liberal arts curriculum encompassing history, English, math, visual and performing arts, laboratory science, foreign language and college preparatory electives. In 2015-16, John Adams Academy grew to serve 1263 scholars: 874 in grades TK-6th, 187 in grades 7th – 8th, and 202 in grades 9th -12th.

John Adams Academy offers a rigorous education that challenges and motivates each scholar to discover, strive for, and achieve her/his full personal potential. We believe that all scholars deserve a challenging and comprehensive curriculum directed toward achieving world-class standards. We further believe that family involvement and commitment are essential to each scholar achieving his/her maximum potential. The Academy features a strong curriculum, outstanding teaching, ongoing assessment of progress and development of scholar potential, and will continue to require a commitment to high standards and to a full partnership between families, learners and the educational institution. Working in partnership, teachers and parents inspire each scholar to identify his/her special excellence as well as become a lifelong learner. The Board, management, and staff believe that learning best occurs when scholars are provided an educational program that challenges and motivates everyone to achieve her/his full potential.

John Adams Academy is fully accredited by the Schools Commission of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC). Previous WASC Accreditation was granted in December 2012 through June 2016. The Academy is very excited that following the three-year self-study WASC granted a full six-year accreditation through June of 2022. See Appendix G.

Four stellar independent financial audits with financial surplus and no significant findings.

Prior to the State’s suspension of the API and as demonstrated in the table below, John Adams Academy’s most recent API score was 902, which was impressive not only in the aggregate but particularly given the geographic and socioeconomic diversity of the scholar population that it serves. In addition to its academic success, the John Adams Academy is projected to have a reserve at the conclusion of this fiscal year of approximately thirteen (13) percent of its annual operating budget. It did this during the worst financial downturn in State history. This demonstrates the educational and financial acumen of the Academy’s Board and administrative team.

RESPONDING TO PARENT NEED
As experienced by the growth of the first John Adams Academy, located in Placer County, we have always been humbled by the overwhelming response that the community at large has given us, especially in an area surrounded by other quality schools. Simply put, the reason we are growing is that there is considerable parent demand for a classical, leadership education. Our philosophy and methodology have resonated with a segment of El Dorado County that seeks another choice in their children’s education. In particular, our model and culture in conjunction with opportunities for volunteer parental involvement has appealed to those already familiar with a classical education and to many who are currently using the classical leadership model, such as in home schooling. We believe that the John Adams Academy will add to an already rich landscape of district, charter, home and private schools to ultimately provide parents with one of a myriad of options that will enrich and enhance their individual lives and the surrounding community. Adding another high performing academic institution with the aim of service toward the public good can only strengthen a thriving community. This again is in response to the interest set forth by parents and community members who believe in an Academy with mission and values, dedicated to servant leadership.

Some time ago, a large group of families organized a parent interest group and approached John Adams Academy to request we open an academy in the El Dorado Hills area. They, of their own initiative to attract John Adams Academy, gathered over 300 intent-to-enroll forms. Many of this group have signed the attached parents signature page. See Appendix I. In addition to this group, John Adams Academy Roseville, currently has families that commute from the El Dorado Hills area to Roseville to have their children attend John Adams Academy. This combination of current demand has led John Adams Academy to the present submission.

The classical education model, which exposes scholars to the best that our western heritage has to offer in history, literature, language, science, music, art, and philosophy, was one of the main motivating factors in bringing her youngest daughter to John Adams Academy. Erika Ochsner

Erika Ochsner has been active in her community through activities such as volunteering at her children’s schools, sports teams, church organizations, and local Cub Scout troop. Over the past three years, she has worked as an art and music docent at her children’s local elementary school.
She has served as a Cub Scout Committee Chair, a youth group leader of children ages 12-18 years old, served as a team soccer mom, and worked as a leader in her church women’s group.

Mrs. Ochsner is passionate about education and discovered John Adams Academy while researching various school options in the area. She was attracted to the school’s classical educational model, as it offers children a well-rounded education rich in literature, history, music, art, math, and science. She and Desiree Harris approached John Adams Academy in January of 2015 about bringing a campus to the Folsom area and she has been diligently working to bring this exceptional school to the area.

Mrs. Ochsner and her husband believe that a John Adams Academy that serves the El Dorado Hills, Folsom, Cameron Park, and surrounding areas will be a great asset to the community as its mission is to prepare leaders that will go out and serve in their communities. They, along with their four children, have lived in Folsom for the past eight years.

Desiree Harris

Mrs. Harris has had a desire to improve education for all children, especially since moving to California from Maryland almost 4 years ago and seeing the need for choice in schools and a less “assembly-line approach” to education.

Over the last few years, she has served in presidencies for youth groups ages 12-18, chaired sports teams and school committees, and worked to bring in art and music programs to the schools her children attend. She has chaired the community outreach group in the effort to bring John Adams Academy to Folsom and held many cottage meetings, as well as publicizing the need for a John Adams Academy to the Folsom/El Dorado Hills area through community events, parades, flyers and websites.

Her belief in the classical education system, having a choice in education, as well as teaching scholars core values are the motivating factors to bringing a John Adams Academy to El Dorado Hills.

Desiree has been an educator for many years, starting out in Physical Education and teaching piano to individual students the past 12 years while raising her family and striving to achieve the most that education can offer her children. She, along with her husband Jeremy who has supported her and the family’s educational goals, live in Folsom.

Annie Amundsen

Annie Amundsen graduated from Arizona State University with dual degrees in Elementary Education and Special Education. She taught students with cross-categorical learning disabilities for 2 years after graduating with honors. Throughout the last several years, she has served in leadership and teaching capacities for youth and primary organizations in her community and currently heads a committee for organizing relief among individuals in her church community as well as refugee efforts locally. Mrs. Amundsen and her husband believe that being an active part of their community is essential in teaching their 3 children to be good citizens and have gladly taken part in the annual Folsom City Community Day of Service since they moved to the area 3 years ago.

With a strong background in individualized student education, she believes in the success and importance of the classical education model John Adams Academy has to offer in tandem with the emphasis on servant leadership, not found in other educational institutes. After positive personal experience with a similar charter in her high school years, Annie is committed to working with others to bring a John Adams Academy to the area, not only for her own children’s benefit and academic growth, but the many children and youth she associates with throughout her community as well.

Amanda Wallis
Amanda Wallis has lived in Folsom for the past 4 ½ years. She has three children and has a background in Recreation and Community Services. She studied at California State University Sacramento and earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Recreation Administration. Upon graduation she began working for the City of Dixon as a Recreation Coordinator where she stayed for five years. After becoming a mother, she devoted herself fulltime to her family and has remained active and involved with the aquatics field. Amanda has the utmost love, respect and appreciation for her family, community, and nation. She highly values her children’s education and wants to provide them the best opportunities possible. Amanda believes that John Adams Academy is the right educational option for her family. She has been an active member of the founding team helping to bring John Adams Academy to the El Dorado Hills area. She currently serves as the Community Outreach Chair for the founding parent organization. She is excited to continue working with John Adams Academy during their approval and in implementing a successful program here for the El Dorado Hills community.

Robert Wallis
Robert Wallis moved his family to Folsom over four years ago so that they could take advantage of the high quality community and people found there. For the last ten years he has worked in the information technology sector supporting the field of corrections. He has also stayed active in his community through service to his church and to the local Boy Scout troop. Robert attained a Bachelor of Science degree in Management with an emphasis in Network Administration and two Associates degrees. He has served as the president of the Probation IT Managers Association for the state of California and currently serves as a board member for the Yolo County Supervisors and Professional Employees Association.

Having seen youth on both ends of the spectrum of life, either incarcerated for violations of the law or serving their community through scouting has led Robert to feel strongly impressed that organizations and institutions such as John Adams Academy are critically important to their development. Robert believes passionately that our youth need these opportunities to understand their role in society, what it means to be a citizen and the importance of the constitution and the freedoms that it established.
He has been pleased to serve as the webmaster and internet consultant to the parent group seeking to bring John Adams Academy to El Dorado Hills. He looks forward to the approval of John Adams Academy El Dorado Hills and continuing to work with and support this fine institution.

Cari French

Cari French is an active volunteer in the El Dorado Hills area. Serving in a number of different service organizations, she has focused her involvement in child volunteerism and activity and increasing social responsibility. She currently volunteers as a committee member with the effort to bring a John Adams Academy to the area.

With two young daughters, Cari has been aggressively working to bring a progressive yet classical education platform to her girls. The importance of a well-rounded education is a top priority to her family.

Cari works in the staffing industry as an outsourced solutions consultant and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Public Relations from Brigham Young University Utah.

Janelle Pavey

Mrs. Pavey is very passionate about health and education. An everyday focus in the Pavey home is to make learning fun and to come natural. She started teaching and reading to her children as infants and implemented a preschool type setting. She and her husband learned about John Adams Academy and its classical education model when their oldest was a baby. They were saddened they couldn't put their child on a waiting list then. However, they are very excited that their daughter was able to begin Kindergarten this year at the JAA Roseville Campus.

Mrs. Pavey and her husband have lived in Folsom for 11 years. She feels it is important for children to be involved in school and community activities and as a family when her children get older, they plan to participate and volunteer whenever possible. Her family has experienced the benefits and joy of a John Adams Academy education and Mrs. Pavey would love to offer that experience to families in the El Dorado Hills and Folsom communities by bringing John Adams Academy to El Dorado Hills. She and her husband believe it will thrive and will soon have a waiting list to enroll.

Joel and Heather Carr

Joel and Heather Carr have been an integral part of the team working to bring a John Adams Academy campus to the El Dorado Hills area. They have served as the committee chairs for the location team, helping to find a suitable location for the school. Joel holds a Masters of Business Administration and has worked in the real estate and solar fields for over 10 years. Joel helped develop several properties in the El Dorado Hills Business Park near where the JAA-El Dorado hills campus is proposed to be located. He has served in many capacities in his church teaching teenagers and adults and has served for several years in a local Boy Scout troop.

Heather graduated from Brigham Young University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in photography. She has served many years in her church teaching children and teenagers, has volunteered teaching art at the local school, taught cub scouts and served as a volunteer missionary for her church in Paraguay.

Joel and Heather understand the importance of education and are very excited about the opportunity for their children to attend JAA-El Dorado Hills. They are the parents of four children and live in Folsom.

ELEMENT A: EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Governing Law: The educational program of the charter school, designed, among other things, to identify those whom the charter school is attempting to educate, what it means to be an “educated person” in the 21st century, and how learning best occurs. The goals identified in that program shall include the objective of enabling pupils to become self-motivated, competent, and lifelong learners. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(A).

Governing Law: The annual goals for the charter school for all pupils and for each subgroup of pupils identified pursuant to Section 52052, to be achieved in the state priorities, as described in subdivision (d) of Section 52060, that apply for the grade levels served, or the nature of the program operated, by the charter school, and specific annual actions to achieve those goals. A charter petition may identify additional school priorities, the goals for the school priorities, and the specific annual actions to achieve those goals. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(A)(ii).

MISSION

John Adams Academy is restoring America’s heritage by developing servant-leaders who are keepers and defenders of the principles of freedom for which our Founding Fathers pledged their lives, fortunes, and sacred honor.

EDUCATIONAL PHILOSOPHY

“All men who have turned out worth anything have had the chief hand in their own education.” - Sir Walter Scott

The education of tomorrow’s leaders determines the level of freedom and prosperity of the next generation. Leaders select the goals of a nation and the means of achieving those goals.

Leadership education trains thinkers, leaders, inventors, citizens, entrepreneurs and statesman. It educates individuals “how to think” and teaches them why it is important. Robert Hutchins said this type of education is “the education of free men in the knowledge and skills that are needed to remain free.”

Classically educated leaders are prepared to motivate and inspire individuals, communities and nations to a greater good in an environment of freedom and prosperity that naturally produces the best society has to offer. This awakening is achieved through enduring principles of success. It is not to educate effectively, but greatly through the internalization of principles exemplified in the lives of great individuals that accomplished great things.

Leadership education presupposes that each individual is born with a unique and individual mission to fulfill. Leadership education consists of discovering, preparing for and fulfilling this mission. It is not the role of leadership education to fill scholars with a pre-determined set of facts, beliefs, or processes, but to inspire them to discover their own potential and unique abilities that only he or she has to contribute to society.

Our Founding Fathers and the great leaders of history received a leadership education. In the twenty-first century it falls to us to choose what kind of leaders we will produce. The liberty, prosperity and stability of our nation and even future civilizations are dependent upon the leaders of tomorrow getting a leadership education today. These principles and the wisdom of history are still available to all who are willing to pay the price to educate, work and implement the timeless principles of a classical leadership education to make a difference in the world.

Educational Program Goals

1. To train thinkers, entrepreneurs and statesmen with the character, competence and capacity to do the right thing and do it excellently in every field of endeavor.

2. To nourish freedom and instruct others in the principles of liberty and how to maintain it by teaching scholars “how” to think. Those who only know what to think or when to think cannot maintain freedom or lead others on the path of progress without further leadership skills.

3. To produce individuals that internalize the skills, methods and structure of a John Adams Academy classical leadership education who go forth to heal society, preserve freedom and ensure peace and prosperity for humanity through noble service using their unique talents in causes greater than self.

4. Designed to produce self-motivated, competent and lifelong learners.

Educational Program Structure

John Adams Academy provides a rigorous, systematic study of great minds down through the ages to achieve mastery of a subject and make connections between past events and the flood of current information. The curriculum of John Adams Academy inspires scholars through self-discipline to educate themselves in the principles of freedom. In partnership with parents and mentors, scholars discover and prepare for their unique mission and purpose in life within the following structure: fulfilling this mission. It is not the role of leadership education to fill scholars with a pre-determined set of facts, beliefs, or processes, but to inspire them to discover their own potential and unique abilities that only he or she has to contribute to society.

Classics

From Washington and Adams to Gandhi and Locke, great individuals studied other great individuals. A classic is a work that can be experienced many times over and give something new each time. A classic or great book has three essential qualities: great theme, noble language and universality. Although scholars at John Adams Academy have access to textbooks that are aligned to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS), it is our goal to have teachers utilize the textbooks as a supplement to classics to teach the CCSS in a more inspiring way.

Classics open our eyes to the true nature of our world and take us across the divide that separates mind from mind. They reveal to us our essential humanity, both its beauty and its horror, and hold the mirror up to our unknown selves. A true classic speaks to the heart and soul, with a message of truth that echoes in our lives long after we’ve turned the final page.

Classics teach us about human nature. They allow us to experience, in an intimate way, the greatest mistakes and successes of human history. Learning how others think, feel, and act allows us to predict behavior and helps us to develop empathy, compassion and wisdom in our relationships with others.

Classics bring us face-to-face with greatness. As we study the characters, real or fictional, in the classics, we are inspired by their greatness, which is the first step to becoming great ourselves.

In classics we can experience other people’s characters more powerfully than in real life because the author lets us see their thoughts, feelings and reasons for and consequences of their choices. Classics force us to quietly study, ponder, analyze, think, ask, discover, cry, laugh, struggle, and above all feel, change, and become. Then, because we are better, we are motivated to go out and serve.

Great literature is miraculous because it makes available to us things that we cannot get in any other way. A classic gives us the personal wisdom to be better as an individual and a citizen of a free nation.

Foreign and Classical Languages:

Exposure to Greek and Latin provides great depth in the ability to speak well and write convincingly. Latin forms a foundation for much English vocabulary, spelling, and grammar. If one knows Latin, it is much easier to learn English vocabulary. This is especially important as we read older documents, as the way we use our words have evolved over time, and knowing the Latin or Greek root helps one understand the fuller (historical) meaning of the word.

As Latin is foundational for learning English, it is true to a much greater extent with Spanish. Almost all Spanish words are based on Latin cognates. Learning Latin is an excellent preparation for learning Spanish.

It is well known that learning a third language is easier than learning the second, and learning the fourth language is easier than the third. This is true even when the languages are unrelated since all languages require the same basic elements--they differ in the way these elements are expressed. Learning Latin and being exposed to Greek will not only improve a person's use of English, it will make the learning of a third language (Spanish) easier.

Latin words form the base of many scientific and medical terms. Most of the difficult medical and scientific terms are just simple words expressed in Latin or Greek instead of English. Knowing Latin and Greek makes learning science easier.

Many of our judicial and political phrases and terms are in Latin. Our first core value is to appreciate our national heritage. Learning Latin facilitates this appreciation by increasing our understanding of that heritage. The de-emphasis of Latin in our schools over the last 90 years has contributed, in a small way, to the diminution of our national appreciation. John Adams Academy requires Latin because it is central to our mission as an institution.

Latin and/or Greek instruction begins in the second grade. Greek Enrichment is taken in seventh grade and Latin Enrichment in eighth grade. At the high school level, Latin 1 and 2 is offered, and Spanish is offered in levels 1 through 4.

How Learning Best Occurs

Although the Academy has CCSS-aligned textbooks, the Academy uses classical and historical texts as its primary means of teaching the CCSS. These classics and historical documents are used not only in History, but also in English class and other classes as appropriate. This enables the Academy to instill a great appreciation for our nation’s heritage while still meeting all state standards.

John Adams Academy believes that learning best occurs through a classical leadership education under the guidance of both California credentialed teachers and mentors that is:

- Language intensive. It demands that scholars use and understand words, not just video images, and study at least one foreign language.
- History intensive. It gives a comprehensive view of human endeavor from beginning until now.
- Demands self-discipline. A teacher’s job is to teach and inspire. A scholar’s job is to educate and apply.
- Produces literate, curious, intelligent scholars with a wide range of interests and abilities.

Mentors

A mentor is an individual of high moral character, more advanced than the scholar who can guide the scholar’s learning. Great mentoring includes six fundamentals:

1. Uses Classics. As scholars become familiar with and eventually can articulate the great ideas of humanity they will know how to think, lead and become great.
2. Personalizes. A mentor helps each scholar identify where he or she is and what they want to become and then helps the scholar develop a plan for achieving it.

5. Only accepts quality work. Demands intellectual and creative excellence or the work is done again.

6. Sets the example for scholars. The best mentors are continually learning and improving, reading classics and studying. A mentor cannot pass on a better education than they have earned.

The greatest leaders throughout history have used a simple curriculum. They read the classics, discussed them with mentors who only accepted quality work and applied the lessons learned to real life.

Modeling

Long before leaders are leading they have practiced in order to prepare. A key part of a Leadership Education is modeling real-life situations. Scholars have the opportunity of modeling, for example, moot courts, mock parliament, parliamentary procedure, historical events, business predicaments, current events, and governmental concerns where scholars can be guided in a safe environment to prepare for real-life scenarios.

Application

After practicing through modeling, scholars have real-life opportunities to apply the principles learned and practiced in internships, community service, vocational programs, employment, travel, and becoming mentors for others.

Lecture

Though over-used, lecture has value if done well with question and answer at the close and scholars learn note-taking skills. Guest “experts” are regularly asked to lecture.

Colloquium

Consists of a group of scholars and a facilitator that have all read a particular book and come together to discuss, address one another and answer questions about that book. Sample questions might include:

- What was the author’s meaning?
- Did the author make allusions? If so, explain.
- What was the structure of the story and why?
• Was there imagery and what did it accomplish?
• Why did the characters act the way they did?
• Can you compare this book with other books that you have read?
• What is the main message of the book?
• List key ideas and analyze these ideas.
• What are key lessons learned?

Written Examination
Just as sustained and serious reading is at the center of self-education so is sustained and intensive daily writing critical for scholars to be able to communicate effectively. Daily essay writing and essay exams test not only the knowledge a scholar has acquired but the ability to organize and communicate that knowledge and apply it.

Oral Examination
Both regular oral presentations and oral exams are vital in preparing scholars for public performance, thinking on their feet and verbal argument. Excellence in oral persuasion is a key element in being able to move the cause of liberty and inspire greatness in others.

What it Means to be an Educated Person in the 21st Century

A Classical Leadership Education is for those who are now and continue to seek higher learning and development. But even for those not planning on a formal four-year university, a classical education is valuable. An educated mind is necessary for any job, from entry level position to professor. When a scholar leaves John Adams Academy knowing how to critically read, effectively write and communicate, do math, connect with history and know how to think, that scholar can easily be trained in any specific job skills they may need in the field of their choosing. They will have learned how to learn.

The most foundational skill upon which all others are built is the understanding, development and application of virtue. The Founding Fathers understood that two types of virtue are necessary for great leaders and statesmen. The Founding Fathers defined private virtue as honesty, integrity and character, in both public trusts and in one’s personal life. Public virtue was voluntarily sacrificing personal comfort or benefits for the good of the nation or community. All true greatness comes from doing the right thing when completely alone and serving without thought of recognition or remuneration.

The following is a list of some, but not all, of the skills that are built upon the foundation of virtue and which a leader and statesman must acquire:

• The ability to define problems without help.
• The ability to ask hard questions that challenge prevailing assumptions.
• The ability to quickly assimilate needed data from masses of irrelevant information.
• The ability to work in teams or absolutely alone.
• The ability to persuade others that your course is the right one.
• The ability to conceptualize and reorganize information into new patterns.
• The ability to discuss ideas with application in mind.
• The ability to think inductively and deductively.
• The ability to think, speak, and write clearly.
• The ability to reason critically and systematically.
• The ability to think independently.
• The ability to see connections among disciplines, ideas and cultures.
• The ability to pursue life-long learning.
• The ability to understand human nature and lead accordingly.
• The ability to identify needed personal traits and turn them into habits.
• The ability to keep one’s life in proper balance.
• The ability to discern truth and error regardless of the source, or the delivery.
• The ability and discipline to do right and constantly improve.

By helping scholars master these and other life and leadership skills, they become leaders, analysts, entrepreneurs and statesmen.

Educational Program Outcome

David Hicks, in his book “Norms and Nobility,” paraphrases Plato this way: “The classically educated scholar aims for more than a life of comfort; she aims for a life that knows and reveres, speculates and acts upon the good, that loves and re-produces the beautiful, and that pursues excellence and moderation in all things.”

A classical leadership education and specifically a John Adams Academy education is not about teaching or learning but about becoming; the quality of life of the individual scholar changes. There is clarity in understanding and polished ability to affect change in the world and impact people within their circle of influence. The classically trained scholar naturally transitions from preparing to serving and is inspired to lift others and move forward the cause of liberty.

The classically educated scholar not only learns wisdom but becomes wise from living the principles resulting from intensive study, immersion in the classics and the application of this education to improving the world. They will be great and will be prepared when called upon to perform the mission unique to them.

From ancient times through recent centuries only a small, elite number of the population received this kind of education; therefore, only that small fraction was qualified to govern, which by definition demands looking past the immediate or popular to evaluate long-range consequences, cause and effect.

In a democratic republic such as the United States, all citizens have a part in government. Each citizen should be able to look past instant gratification, rhetoric, fancy speeches, and simplistic solutions in order to understand the right course of action based upon true principles. Every one of the citizens of this great nation has the responsibility once reserved for only the well-educated, the classically educated. And so, every citizen, college-bound or not should receive the type of education that will develop greatness in mind and character; to become an individual of integrity and sound judgment.

If we do not begin to educate ourselves and inspire our scholars, we will continue to relinquish the privilege of self-government by putting ourselves at the mercy of a few “experts” until the disappearing democratic ideals upon which our nation was founded are completely lost and our American civilization is relegated with those that have fallen.

A classical leadership education as offered by John Adams Academy is the best prevention and the only hope that a “nation conceived in liberty…shall not perish from the Earth.” – President Abraham Lincoln

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM

_Governing Law:_ If the proposed charter school will serve high school pupils, the manner in which the charter school will inform parents about the transferability of courses to other public high schools and the eligibility of courses to meet college entrance requirements. Courses offered by the charter school that are accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges may be considered transferable and courses approved by the University of California or the California State University as creditable under the “A” to “G” admissions criteria may be considered to meet college entrance requirements. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(A)(ii).

Graduation Requirements

John Adams Academy graduation requirements will meet or exceed the California graduation requirements, and University of California (UC) and California State University (CSU) requirements for freshman admission. The chart below demonstrates the JAA graduation requirements in comparison to current California, UC and CSU requirements as an example of JAA meeting or exceeding said requirements. JAA may amend graduation requirements during the term of the charter based on changes in California, UC or CSU requirements as well as JAA identification of scholar or program need.

In the event that changes are made that increase the requirements for graduation, any scholar currently enrolled in high school would be subject to the previous requirements as advertised when they enrolled. The more stringent requirements would apply to any scholars newly enrolling in a high school grade level following the change.

Please note: Scholars must be enrolled as full day students their senior year at John Adams Academy unless excused by the Headmaster and/or relevant Dean for reasons such as, but not limited to, classes taken at a local college, a work release with a permit or as part of an internship approved by JAA, etc.

The Academy will be fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (“WASC”). John Adams Academy, developed and operated by the same team submitting this petition, recently received a 6 year WASC accreditation from July 1, 2016 to June 30, 2022. The Academy’s high school courses will be approved by the University of California and California State University Systems as meeting the A-G admissions requirements. The Academy’s courses that meet the A-G requirements will be listed in the high school curriculum catalog. All scholars and parents will be required to complete an orientation session prior to enrollment, which includes a review of the parent/scholar handbook. In addition to A-G approved courses being listed in the handbook, a statement regarding the transferability of courses to other high schools is included. Both the A-G list and the information on transferability of classes are updated on a yearly basis. The Academy recognizes that as a WASC-accredited school, its courses are transferable to other public schools and A-G courses are considered to meet college entrance requirements.

SCHOLARS TO BE SERVED

The Academy will be authorized as a TK-12 program that operates both classroom-based and non-classroom-based instructional programs. The Academy will likely begin its first year of operations with grades K-6, but reserves the right to expand this to include additional grades as scholar demand and facilities allow. The Academy expects to expand a grade level each year to include all of grades TK-12 by year seven (7) of the charter, adding TK in year two (2). The Academy has developed a realistic enrollment projection for the first 7 years of operation. It is anticipated that it will serve approximately 360 scholars in the first year growing to 720 scholars for all grades TK-12 by the end of the seventh year of operation. These numbers are based on a reasonable projection of anticipated enrollment based upon existing scholar enrollment at John Adams Academy, scholars currently on the existing John Adams Academy waiting list and parents in the who have expressed interest in the Academy who are not currently on a waiting list. Below is a chart demonstrating the projected enrollment:

Target Scholar Population:

The Academy’s target scholar population includes scholars of all achievement levels in El Dorado County. The Academy seeks to recruit a diverse cross section of the community who share our belief that:

1. A classical leadership education designed to educate servant leaders is a valuable alternative to the traditional methods of teaching state standards.
2. Extensive use of mentors can assist scholars, particularly struggling scholars, to succeed.
3. More instructional time improves growth in scholar achievement. This instructional time is used to add foreign language as a requirement in grades 2-12, as well as to add courses in technology, art, classical languages, public speaking, advanced group projects/simulations, and study skills.
4. Scholars who are not mastering the content being taught at their respective grade level have the opportunity to extend their school day by participating in before school, after school, Saturday school, and/or summer school until such time as assessments reflect that they are performing at or above grade level and, in the case of English learners, that they have been re-designated as proficient in English. Our Academy is genuinely committed to excellent instruction that will enable any scholar to exceed common core state standards.

Since our target scholar population reflects a cross section of the community, it is anticipated that the racial, ethnic, socioeconomic, English Learner and special education populations will closely track that of Buckeye Union School District’s scholar population. Following is data demonstrating the Academy’s current student demographics:

CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN

The Classics vs. Textbooks

One of the most obvious features of a school is its curriculum, and within its curriculum, the list of books read. The John Adams Academy utilizes an array of classic books, which are in support of and in alignment with the CCSS in all subject areas. In addition to the foundational use of classics, CCSS-aligned texts are used in supplement.

The core use of classics is preferred to textbooks in that the latter, almost without exception, are "secondary sources," two steps removed from reality. They are, as it were, thoughts about thoughts. Classics, by contrast, are much closer to common experience in its fullness; they raise questions and pursue inquiries, which arise directly from a wonder about things themselves. On this account, they are of the greatest importance to scholars, for they begin where thought itself must begin: in the original context.

Another reason for the study of the classics is that scholars are thereby allowed and encouraged to become directly familiar with the greatest works. They are not limited to what passes through the minds of their instructors and the authors of textbooks, which can hardly be more than diminished, and distant views of what exists more fully and more powerfully in the classics themselves. Instead, scholars are encouraged to encounter the classical works firsthand, deriving their own opinions about the original texts.

The Socratic Method

A distinguishing feature of John Adams Academy is its discussion method of teaching. Over two thousand years ago Socrates saw what was crucial to human learning. Socrates searched the souls of his scholars with questions. If any responded saying, "I have heard such and such...," he would invariably reply: "But what do you think?" He was not asking for their opinion; he was asking just what they really thought and knew about things. It is not easy to say accurately just... what we really think. Often upon hearing a response, Socrates would ask, "But don't you also think such and such about it? How do these two ideas fit together?" And so the discussion would go until the scholar began to harmonize his own thoughts.

There is a vital aspect of teaching that can never be implemented so well by lectures as by dialogue. Each one of us brings certain fundamental ideas to education, which must be made explicit before learning can advance. Discussion is the optimum means to bring them forth. The scholar must accomplish the thinking; the teacher, as a good facilitator, only assists the labor.

Discussion, because it is an activity, engages the scholar's mind more than do lectures. Instead of passively hearing the instructor’s thoughts, the scholar, engaged in dialogue, is required to work his own mind, to form and express his own thoughts; the challenge of discussion pushes him to ever higher efforts. He reads more carefully knowing he will soon be explaining and debating his own understanding of the text. If he does this on a daily basis, this heightened intensity leads to intellectual habits that last a lifetime. Lectures are less likely to produce the intellectual virtues. At best one might remember certain ideas from a lecture, but they have probably not become part of him. But the ideas he has worked out himself are likely to stay, and become part of his mental makeup.

Thinking is often characterized as an internal dialogue because we make use of words even in our private reflections. Dialogue with another often helps us to clarify further to ourselves just what we really do mean especially when the other has asked the right questions. A good teacher is able, through the right questions, to make us aware of our most basic ideas in the light of which we are able to make judgments about other things.

Book learning, great or otherwise, never starts in the book or in the school. Its origin is in the mind that comes to school. Nature sees to it that we all grasp certain fundamental concepts and distinctions about reality--ideas we are hardly aware we have--that allow us to judge all other ideas put forth about reality. Genuine education leads the mind forth to see these elemental ideas openly before it applies them to further notions. Every science and every discipline is rooted in these basic ideas.

Through the combination of a curriculum rooted in the classics and teaching methods proven to evoke original and individual ideas, scholars at John Adams Academy receive the fundamental pieces to assimilate their own exceptional education.

Economic Education

One of the goals of John Adams Academy is to create citizens who share traditional American values of self-reliance and hard work. We also want to create engaged citizens that have a solid understanding of the beliefs of the founders about the dangers of government and personal debt for the happiness of all citizens. With this in mind, John Adams Academy utilizes newspaper articles, government reports and economics texts to help scholars understand the long-term implications of current trends such as unfunded Social Security and Medicare benefits, unfunded government employee retiree health care, unfunded pension benefits, national debt, trade deficits, state budget deficits, and devaluation of American currency. These major issues promise to have a great impact on the lives of today’s scholars and future American generations because this generation is incurring debt that it is unlikely to repay within its own lifetime, thus thrusting this debt on current scholars and future generations. We want these scholars to understand how this will impact their lives and how they as citizens can play a role in re-establishing more sound economic policies for our nation.

Elementary Curriculum

An example of the elementary curriculum utilized by John Adams Academy is a combination of Junior Great Books, The Story of the World, and the Core Knowledge Sequence as the foundation for its educational program in grades K-8. In addition, CPM Math, Saxon Math, and Systematic Phonics Instruction programs are used in K-8. This is aligned with our belief that education in the classics is essential at all grade levels. This curriculum has been specifically adapted to meet the developmental needs of young learners, as it introduces scholars to the key concepts to be explored in great depth as they prepare for critical thought processes necessary to successfully navigate the rigor of the curriculum of in the middle and high school years.

The Great Books curriculum was developed by the Great Books Foundation, which was established in 1947. In 1986, the Core Knowledge Foundation was founded by E.D. Hirsch, Jr., professor emeritus at the University of Virginia and author. Detailed information on the names of the books and the materials for these years can be found on each website: www.greatbooks.com and www.coreknowledge.org. Additional information is available upon request.

John Adams Academy curricula is supplemented with instructional materials and state adopted textbooks to ensure that every scholar enrolled learns the Common Core State Standards required at each respective grade level. JAA will assess the curriculum used and make any necessary changes based on scholar and program need.

Great people of the past have always studied the classics. Classics are defined as having two characteristics. First, classics give glaring insight into human nature. They bring one face to face with questions and actions of humanity. Second, a classic is a work that is worth studying over and over wherein the scholar learns more each time it is read. Most agree that a classic must be read at least five times to get the real messages of the author. The best way to mine the nuggets of knowledge from a classic is to have a mentor. A mentor is a person who has gone before in his/her studies, is well versed in the classic, and can lead scholars in a discussion which will help them discover for themselves the rich wisdom contained in the classic.

The Rewards

Studying the classics is not a popular thing to do in high school anymore. It does not necessarily speed up the “conveyor belt” process leading to a college degree. It does, however, develop in the scholar a greater degree of maturity, judgment, and understanding of human nature and the ability to think independently than perhaps any other educational activity. It builds... characteristics of heroes in young people. It prepares them for greater service in the future. It teaches them how to think.

Imagine scholars graduating from the John Adams Academy, each of whom have mastered 20, 30, 40, or 50 or more of the greatest classics ever written. It represents an unmatched educational experience. We recognize scholar accomplishments in these areas, not solely by GPA, but also by their participation in classical education.

Mode of Instruction

John Adams Academy offers site-based, independent study, and on-line instruction to its scholars. This hybrid approach offers the best opportunity to meet the needs of a diverse cross-section of scholars in an individual way. Not all scholars will use all of these modes of instruction. However, the intent is that each scholar will participate in each of these modes of instruction to the extent that is necessary to meet their needs and ensure their success. Some students are fully instructed through independent study or online instruction, some are instructed completely with site-based instruction, and some receive a blend of both, as appropriate.

As an example of how this approach is implemented, if a scholar is already fluent in Spanish, their family might wish to have them learn Chinese rather than Spanish so that they would have an opportunity to learn three languages rather than just two. If John Adams Academy does not have sufficient interest to teach Chinese as a traditional site-based course, the course could be taken through an online course under the direction of a California credentialed supervising teacher. The rest of this scholar’s instruction would be site-based because the other courses are appropriate for the scholar.

John Adams Academy will maintain resource centers and meeting spaces for the purpose of servicing students who are served partially or exclusively through independent study and online methods of study in addition to its site-based facility located in El Dorado Hills.

Instructional Methods

Teachers use a variety of instructional methods to most effectively assist scholars at all levels in mastering the curriculum. These include teacher lecture, cooperative learning, and individual instruction. It includes effective instructional methods such as immediate feedback, graphic organizers, summarizing and note. Teachers’ instruction is also supported in assessment by peers and the best standards based methods of accountability. As an example, teacher will utilize an electronic assessment resource system, I-Ready, that provides teachers with current and specific information about scholar achievement, for individual scholars as well as for groups of scholars. Quality instructional methods such as these have the proven ability to be effective with a wide range of scholars, including those who are currently performing below grade level, are English language learners or are scholars with special needs.

Instructional methods are determined by the data-driven needs of individual scholars. This is important for all scholars but is especially important for English Learners and scholars with disabilities. Teachers use a range of instructional methods to differentiate instruction. These methods include, but are not limited to, problem-based learning (placing scholars in the active role of solving problems), multiple entry points (proposes scholar exploration of a topic through a number of avenues such as narrative, foundational and experimental), choice boards (work assignments are on cards and teachers ask scholars to select from a range of cards), compacting (do pre-assessments and scholars know the material are able to move on), and complex instruction (uses challenging materials, open ended tasks and small instructional groups.)

Teachers supplement classroom study with field trips, web-based topical seminars and independent study options. Scholars at the high school level also have opportunities to take courses at local colleges (e.g., Sierra College) and universities (e.g., ACE program through Sacramento State University). A wide range of after-school clubs and intramural sports, supervised by teachers and parent volunteers, also provide enriching educational, recreational and social opportunities for scholars. These activities help with the personal growth of scholars, provide opportunities for scholars to build community with each other and to make important connections with/contribution to the larger community.

The Academy will meet or exceed the number of minutes of instruction as required by Education Code Section 47612.5. These minutes do not include before school, after school and Saturday school instructional time.

Staff Development

Professional development is foundational to our model of “becoming” and that we are never a completely finished leader or educator. John Adams encourages improvement by making available continuing educational opportunities with a variety of organizations. The John Adams Academy Headmaster and other administrators, as appropriate, may attend workshops, conferences, presentations or trainings of the California Charter Schools Association, the Charter Schools Development Center, El Dorado County Charter SELPA, and any other appropriate association or government entity in order to ensure that John Adams Academy leadership has a solid working knowledge of all aspects of managing and operating a charter school.

Teachers shall participate in a wide range of professional development workshops designed to advance their skills and practices in their roles as teachers and mentors at John Adams Academy. Examples of the types of professional development opportunities provided to teachers include, but not are not limited to:

2. Special education
3. Scholar discipline
4. RTI and EL Support
5. Curriculum development and assessment
6. Training by Oliver DeMille or designee on the use of mentoring
7. Use of technology in instruction
8. Training in Great Books by a Great Books professional or designee
9. Training in Core Knowledge by a Core Knowledge professional or designee
10. Training in Systematic Phonics Instruction
11. Training in CPM and Saxon Math programs

Parental Participation in the Educational Program

Some of the greatest learning and most effective mentoring comes from parents and siblings discussing the great ideas they are reading about together. Parents must focus on their own education, read the classics in all fields, find mentors who inspire and demand quality, structure their days to include study time, and become a person who inspires great education in their scholar.

The Academy will provide opportunities throughout the school year for parents to gain insights, information and confidence in the classics and the curriculum in order to support their scholar’s education. A parent does not need to be an expert to inspire great education, classics provide the expertise, but parents must set the example for self-improvement. It is unlikely that scholars will desire or be inspired to pursue a better education than what is modeled for them. Parents who have never read the classics cannot discuss them or mentor them to the next generation. As parents participate in these activities they will build capacity to access and be involved in the curriculum, modeling for their children and partnering with the Academy for the success of the scholar.

The Education Program, as enumerated herein, is subject to change as required by law, by requirements of accrediting organizations and as further refined by the board and academic team.

Plan for English Learners

The Academy follows all applicable laws in serving its English Learner (EL) scholars, including full inclusion in the classroom, small group instruction, and individual instructional customization in the classroom.
The Academy administers the Home Language Survey upon a scholar’s enrollment. All scholars who indicate that their home language is one other than English are initially administered the California English Language Development Test (CELDT) \(^5\) within thirty (30) days of enrollment, and annually thereafter between July 1st and October 31st until reclassified as Fluent English Proficient (FEP). Scholars reclassified as Fluent English Proficient (R-FEP) are monitored for two (2) years.

The Academy notifies all parents of EL scholars prior to CELDT administration. Parents receive CELDT results within thirty days of the Academy receiving results from the publisher. The CELDT is used to determine qualification to reclassify an EL scholar as Fluent English Proficient (R-FEP) and to fulfill the requirements under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) for annual English proficiency testing.

The Academy first determines to what extent the scholar is limited English proficient. The Academy then makes a determination as to what site program and servicing the scholar will receive (e.g. Structured English Immersion). The Academy analyzes what interventions have been used previously with the scholar and makes a determination as to whether any of the interventions will continue to be utilized.

Dependent upon the scholar’s grade level and/or English Language proficiency levels, the Academy ensures the scholar is receiving an intensive and targeted intervention program for English Language acquisition. Interventions include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Utilization of directed, structured, and researched-based instruction.
- Structured, targeted, and rigorous standards-based instruction integrating the Theory of Multiple Intelligences which centers on scholars’ learning strengths; and
- Scholar Success Team process to analyze current interventions being utilized within the classroom, put in place new interventions, and monitor all interventions to determine effectiveness.

If necessary, and with parental/guardian consent, John Adams Academy determines a scholar’s eligibility for Special Education services as needed.

John Adams Academy runs a full-inclusion program for our EL scholars. EL scholars are not placed in sheltered or bilingual instruction classes at John Adams Academy. From the first day of school, EL scholars are immersed in English, with the language support they need to learn the language. Additionally, this support enables them to develop the grammatical framework and vocabulary needed to become proficient readers and writers.

\(^5\) All references in the charter petition to the CELDT will be understood by the Charter School and the County to mean the English Language Proficiency Assessments for California (“ELPAC”), when it replaces the CELDT.
All teachers of EL scholars receive professional development in order to better understand the instructional steps and approaches necessary for English Language acquisition. All John Adams Academy teachers are CLAD certified or in the process of obtaining CLAD certification.

EL scholars are monitored by homeroom teachers using the same Academic Strategic Success Plan process as other scholars. Our goal is to help EL scholars move rapidly through the five levels of English Language proficiency and ultimately become reclassified as Fluent English Proficient (R-FEP). Research shows that once a child achieves the intermediate stages of fluency, they begin to accelerate their progress on all of their academic work.

There are two types of English Language Development programs at John Adams Academy: Structured English Immersion (SEI) and English Language Mainstream (ELM). SEI classrooms are designed for scholars with less than “reasonable fluency”. An English language mainstream classroom is designed for scholars with “reasonable fluency” or a “good working knowledge of English.” Typically, EL scholars scoring at the beginning to intermediate levels on the CELDT are considered to have less than “reasonable fluency” (California Education Code [EC] Section 305). Typically, scholars scoring at the intermediate level or higher (Early Advanced or Advanced) are considered to have “reasonable fluency.” However, districts (in this case, John Adams Academy) determine what levels constitute “reasonable fluency” and “less than reasonable fluency.”

An EL scholar shall be transferred from a SEI classroom to an English language mainstream classroom when the scholar has acquired a reasonable level of English proficiency (EC 305). However, at any time, including during the school year, a parent or guardian may have his or her scholar moved into an English language mainstream classroom utilizing the Parental Exception Waiver process (California Code of Regulations [CCR], Title 5, section 11301).

Structured English Immersion (SEI): Scholars who score at less than reasonable fluency are placed in an SEI program and are taught overwhelmingly in English. Some assistance may be provided in the primary language. Scholars are taught ELD and other core subjects by authorized teachers using textbooks and supplementary materials approved by John Adams Academy’s Board of Directors. Instruction is based on ELD and grade-level content standards. Instruction includes differentiated core content delivered through Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English (SDAIE).

English Language Mainstream (ELM): Scholars who score at reasonable fluency in English are placed in an ELM program. They are taught ELD and other core subjects by authorized teachers using textbooks and supplementary materials approved by John Adams Academy’s Board of Directors. Instruction is based on ELD and grade-level content standards. Scholars will receive additional instruction needed to assist them to be reclassified as fluent English proficient. Core content is delivered through Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English (SDAIE).
The process and criteria for determining when a scholar should exit the ELD Program is as follows: According to the California Education Code Section 313(d), the required criteria are CELDT results, Comparison of Performance in Basic Skills, Teacher Evaluation (term grades), and a writing rubric which serves as an additional multiple measure. Specific criteria for each component listed above are as follows:

Overall CELDT scores: Early Advanced or Advanced (with no sub-skills scoring less than Intermediate in Reading, Writing, Language, and Speaking)

CST scores: Proficient or Advanced in English Language Arts (ELA) and Math

Teacher Evaluation: grades must be a C or better in all core academic subject areas (e.g., Reading, Math, Writing, etc.) for scholars in grades K - 12

Writing Rubric: Grade-level writing samples must score a 3 or better on a 4 point maximum rubric scale. Writing rubrics will measure writing strategies, language conventions, sentence structure, grammar, capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Prior to scholars exiting the ELD program, the EL coordinator and site administration obtain parent approval during a Parental Opinion and Consultation session/meeting. If the scholar is receiving Special Education services, an IEP team meeting is held and an addendum is submitted to reflect that the scholar being reclassified is based due to a learning disability rather than a language barrier.

Title III requires that states hold Title III subgrantees accountable for meeting three annual measurable achievement objectives (AMAOs) for English learners. The first AMAO relates to making annual progress on the CELDT, the second relates to attaining English proficiency on the CELDT, and the third AMAO relates to meeting Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) by the English Learner subgroup at the LEA level. Charter schools that are direct funded and that receive Title III funds as a separate LEA will be held accountable for meeting the AMAOs and will receive Title III Accountability Reports each fall.

The Academy does not currently receive Title III funding. In the event that John Adams Academy was to receive Title III funds the Academy will meet or exceed all AMAO and AYP targets.

English Learner Advisory Committee
In the event that 21 or more scholars designated as English Learner are enrolled at the charter school, the Academy will form an English Learner Advisory Committee (ELAC). The ELAC will be a committee comprised of parents, staff, and community members specifically designated to advise school officials on English Learner program services.
PLAN FOR SCHOLARS WHO ARE ACADEMICALLY LOW ACHIEVING

John Adams Academy strongly believes that when both teachers and parents collaborate on addressing unique scholar needs and barriers preventing academic success, scholars will succeed. Teachers meet regularly to compare their scholar data, discuss scholar performance and concerns, and discuss instructional strategies, interventions, and enrichment.

John Adams Academy is designed to serve all scholars, including those who would be at risk of achieving Standard Not Met proficiency on state exams. Through a comprehensive Response to Intervention program we identify at-risk scholars based on standardized tests, on-going assessment and diligently look for those who are not meeting grade level standards on classroom assessments. We provide targeted intervention by teachers and support staff with the specific intention of identifying, assessing, tracking, and remediating struggling scholars, to ensure the progress of any who are failing to thrive in the academic environment. In addition, for those scholars in grades one through twelve (1-12) who are not meeting grade level standards on classroom assessments, remedial intervention before school, after school, and on Saturdays may be offered. We provide targeted intervention by teachers who have proven instructionally strong in this designated area.

Scholars At-Risk of Low Achievement

John Adams Academy screens the following data to identify at-risk scholars in accordance with the California guidelines:

- Scholars scoring Standard Not Met, Standard Nearly Met on the previous year’s adopted standardized test in any one subtest score.
- Scholars who are at least one year below grade level in the areas of Reading, Writing, Math, Oral Language, Science or History as identified by interim assessments; and scholars recommended for academic intervention.
- Scholars who are struggling with accurately completing class assignments.

John Adams Academy utilizes assessment to gather data for Response to Intervention (R.T.I.) and the Scholar Study Team (SST) process. An example of the types of diagnostic assessments used in Reading, Writing, and Math to help identify struggling scholars is “i-Ready”. Built for the Common Core, i-Ready combines a valid and reliable growth measure and individualized instruction. Universal screenings are provided 3 times in the school year to assist in identifying at-risk scholars. Progress monitoring is done weekly to monthly helping to guide instruction within the R.T.I. model and assessing the skills targeted for intervention. Formative assessments are done daily and used for decision making within the intervention process.

Academic Strategic Success Plans

The SST process results in the creation of an Academic Strategic Success Plan to inform parent(s)/guardian(s) that their scholar’s work is falling below our academic expectations and is now labeled “at risk”. The Academic Strategic Success Plan is used with all identified at-risk scholars to allow teachers to collaborate on the best strategies and past successful interventions that may be helpful to ensure academic growth. The Academic Strategic Success Plan is updated each semester, with targeted objectives and goals focusing on the scholar meeting grade level standards. The parent(s)/guardian(s), teacher, and scholar are required to attend all SST meetings in order to set goals and objectives to ensure academic growth. Parent(s)/Guardian(s) are informed as soon as their scholar is in danger of being identified as being “at-risk”.

Data is gathered through frequent interim assessments performed in the core subject areas. Teachers have the tools they need to track all of their scholars and ensure they are making sufficient progress. The Academic Strategic Success Plans are updated to identify if interventions have been successful, or if additional intervention is necessary.

If a scholar is deemed as making “adequate progress”, the scholar continues to be monitored to ensure academic success. If by the end of the school year the scholar is not making adequate progress, further remediation/intervention are considered, including, but not limited to, retention, special education assessment, etc.

Intervention

Despite the significant amount of individualization built into the John Adams Academy curriculum, some scholars may need additional attention and/or services. Remedial intervention is offered before school, after school, and on Saturdays, to scholars in grades one through twelve.

PLAN FOR SCHOLARS WHO ARE ACADEMICALLY HIGH ACHIEVING

Scholars who are high achieving will be identified through performance on state exams, standards based formative and summative assessments, and teacher interaction/observation. Parents are informed of the identification of their scholar as high achieving and included in the collaboration for serving the needs of the scholar. Scholars who are high achieving will have the opportunity to select projects and establish timelines for completing work. In collaboration with the team of scholar, parent and teacher, the following options are available:

1. Weekly tutoring in challenging classes,
2. Attending classes designed to meet the needs of accelerated scholars,
3. Use of curriculum supplements that are designed to challenge high-achieving scholars,
4. Attending classes at Sierra Community College or other local colleges,
5. Online computer based programs in advanced courses.

Teachers attend numerous trainings throughout the year designed to enhance their ability to personalize instruction for each type of learner so that high achieving scholars can be challenged at the John Adams Academy.

PLAN FOR SERVING STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
Overview

John Adams Academy shall comply with all applicable State and Federal Laws in serving scholars with disabilities, including, but not limited to, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (“Section 504”), the Americans with Disabilities Act (“ADA”) and the Individuals with Disabilities in Education Improvement Act (“IDEIA”).

The Academy shall apply for status as an independent local educational agency member of the El Dorado County Charter Special Education Local Plan Area (“SELPA”) for purposes of providing special education instruction and related services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act pursuant to Education Code Section 47641(a). The Charter School shall comply with all state and federal laws related to the provision of special education instruction and related services and all SELPA policies and procedures; and shall utilize appropriate SELPA forms.

The Charter School may request related services (e.g. Speech, Occupational Therapy, Adapted P.E., Nursing, and Transportation) from the SELPA, subject to SELPA approval and availability. The Charter School may also provide related services by hiring credentialed or licensed providers through private agencies or independent contractors.

John Adams Academy shall be solely responsible for its compliance with Section 504 and the ADA. The facilities to be utilized by the Academy shall be accessible for all scholars with disabilities.

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act

John Adams Academy recognizes its legal responsibility to ensure that no qualified person with a disability shall, on the basis of disability, be excluded from participation, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program of John Adams Academy. Any scholar, who has an objectively identified disability which substantially limits a major life activity including but not limited to learning, is eligible for accommodation by the Academy.

A 504 team will be assembled by the Headmaster of John Adams Academy and shall include parents/guardians, the scholar (where appropriate), and other qualified persons knowledgeable about the scholar, the meaning of the evaluation data, placement options, and accommodations. The 504 team will review the scholar’s existing records, including academic, social and behavioral records and is responsible for making a determination as to whether an evaluation for 504 services is appropriate. If the scholar has already been evaluated under the IDEA, but found ineligible for special education instruction or related services under the IDEIA, those evaluations may be used to help determine eligibility under Section 504. The scholar evaluation shall be carried out by the 504 team who will evaluate the nature of the scholar’s disability and the impact upon the scholar’s education. This evaluation will include consideration of any behaviors that interfere with regular participation in the educational program and/or activities. The 504 team may also consider the following information in its evaluation:
a. Tests and other evaluation materials that have been validated for the specific purpose for which they are used and are administered by trained personnel.

b. Tests and other evaluation materials include those tailored to assess specific areas of educational need and not merely those which are designed to provide a single general intelligent quotient.

c. Tests are selected and administered so as to ensure that when a test is administered to a scholar with impaired sensory, manual or speaking skills, the test results accurately reflect the scholar’s aptitude or achievement level or whatever factor the test purports to measure rather than reflecting the scholar’s impaired sensory, manual or speaking skills.

The final determination of whether the scholar will or will not be identified as a person with a disability is made by the 504 team in writing and notice is given in writing to the parent or guardian of the scholar in their primary language along with the procedural safeguards available to them. If during the evaluation, the 504 team obtains information indicating possible eligibility of the scholar for special education per the IDEIA, a referral for special education assessment will be made by the 504 team.

If the scholar is found by the 504 team to have a disability under Section 504, the 504 team shall be responsible for determining what, if any, accommodations or services are needed to ensure that the scholar receives a free and appropriate public education (“FAPE”). In developing the 504 Plan, the 504 team shall consider all relevant information utilized during the evaluation of the scholar, drawing upon a variety of sources, including, but not limited to, assessments conducted by the John Adams Academy’s professional staff.

The 504 Plan shall describe the Section 504 disability and any program modification that may be necessary. All 504 team participants, parents, guardians, teachers and any other participants in the scholar’s education, including substitutes and tutors, must have a copy of each scholar’s 504 Plan. The site administrator will ensure that teachers include 504 Plans with lesson plans for short-term substitutes and that he/she review the 504 Plan with a long-term substitute.

A copy of the 504 Plan shall be maintained in the scholar’s file. Each scholar’s 504 Plan will be reviewed regularly to determine the appropriateness of the Plan, continued eligibility or readiness to discontinue the 504 Plan.

Services for Students under the “IDEIA”

The following description regarding how special education and related services shall be provided and funded is included by the Charter School for the sole purpose of providing a reasonably comprehensive description of the special education program in the charter petition, and is not binding on the County. The specific manner in which special education and related services shall be provided and funded shall be set forth in a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU"), delineating the respective responsibilities of the Charter School and the SELPA. A copy of the MOU shall be made available to the County upon request.

The Charter School shall provide special education instruction and related services in accordance with the IDEIA, Education Code requirements, and applicable policies and practices of the SELPA.

Identification and Referral
The Charter School has the responsibility to identify, refer, and work cooperatively in locating Charter School students who have or may have exceptional needs that qualify them to receive special education services. The Charter School implements SELPA policies and procedures to ensure timely identification and referral of students who have, or may have, such exceptional needs. A pupil shall be referred for special education only after the resources of the regular education program have been considered, and where appropriate, utilized.

The Charter School follows SELPA child-find procedures to identify all students who may require assessment to consider special education eligibility and special education and related services in the case that general education interventions do not provide a free appropriate public education to the student in question.

Assessments

The term “assessments” shall have the same meaning as the term “evaluation” in the IDEIA, as provided in Section 1414, Title 20 of the United States Code. The Charter School determines what assessments, if any, are necessary and arranges for such assessments for referred or eligible students in accordance with applicable law. The Charter School obtains parent/guardian consent to assess Charter School students.

IEP Meetings

The Charter School arranges and notices the necessary IEP meetings. IEP team membership shall be in compliance with state and federal law. The Charter School is responsible for having the following individuals in attendance at the IEP meetings: the Headmaster and/or the Charter School designated representative with appropriate administrative authority as required by the IDEIA; the student’s special education teacher; the student’s general education teacher if the student is or may be in a regular education classroom; the student, if appropriate; and other Charter School representatives who are knowledgeable about the regular education program at the Charter School and/or about the student. The Charter School arranges for the attendance or participation of all other necessary staff that may include, but are not limited to, an appropriate administrator to comply with the requirements of the IDEIA, a speech therapist, psychologist, resource specialist, and behavior specialist; and shall document the IEP meeting and provide notice of parental rights.

IEP Development

The Charter School understands that the decisions regarding eligibility, goals/objectives, program, services, placement, and exit from special education are the decision of the IEP team, pursuant to the IEP process. Programs, services and placements are provided to all eligible Charter School students in accordance with the policies, procedures and requirements of the SELPA and State and Federal law.
IEP Implementation

The Charter School is responsible for all school site implementation of the IEP. As part of this responsibility, the Charter School shall provide parents with timely reports on the student’s progress as provided in the student’s IEP at least as frequently as report cards are provided for the Charter School’s non-special education students. The Charter School also provides all home-school coordination and information exchange. The Charter School is also responsible for providing all curriculum, classroom materials, classroom modifications, and assistive technology.

Interim and Initial Placements of New Charter School Students

The Charter School complies with Education Code Section 56325 with regard to students transferring into the Charter School within the academic school year. In accordance with Education Code Section 56325(a)(1), for students who enroll in the Charter School from another school district within the State, but outside of the SELPA with a current IEP within the same academic year, the Charter School provides the pupil with a free appropriate public education, including services comparable to those described in the previously approved IEP, in consultation with the parent, for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days, by which time Charter School shall adopt the previously approved IEP or shall develop, adopt, and implement a new IEP that is consistent with federal and state law.

In accordance with Education Code Section 56325(a)(2), in the case of an individual with exceptional needs who has an IEP and transfers into the Charter School from a district operated program under the same special education local plan area of the Charter School within the same academic year, the Charter School shall continue, without delay, to provide services comparable to those described in the existing approved IEP, unless the parent and the Charter School agree to develop, adopt, and implement a new IEP that is consistent with federal and state law.

For students transferring to the Charter School with an IEP from outside of California during the same academic year, the Charter School shall provide the pupil with a free appropriate public education, including services comparable to those described in the previously approved IEP in consultation with the parents, until the Charter School conducts an assessment pursuant to paragraph (1) of subsection (a) of Section 1414 of Title 20 of the United States Code, if determined to be necessary by the Charter School, and develops a new IEP, if appropriate that is consistent with federal and state law.

Non-Public Placements/Non-Public Agencies

The Charter School is solely responsible for selecting, contracting with, and overseeing all non-public schools and non-public agencies used to serve special education students.

Non-discrimination

The Charter School represents itself at all SELPA meetings.

Funding

The Charter School is subject to the allocation plan of the SELPA.
ELEMENT B: MEASURABLE STUDENT OUTCOMES

_Governing Law:_ The measurable pupil outcomes identified for use by the charter school. “Pupil outcomes,” for purposes of this part, means the extent to which all pupils of the school demonstrate that they have attained the skills, knowledge, and attitudes specified as goals in the school’s educational program. Pupil outcomes shall include outcomes that address increases in pupil academic achievement both school-wide and for all groups of pupils served by the charter school, as that term is defined in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of Section 47607. The pupil outcomes shall align with the state priorities, as described in subdivision (d) of Section 52060, that apply for the grade levels served, or the nature of the program operated, by the charter school. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(B).

The Academy will use mandated standardized state assessments as required by Education Code Section 47605(c)(1), including but not limited to, the CAASPP, the CELDT, and the PFT.

A. Assessment Methodology and Philosophy

The Academy’s assessment methods are based on the following beliefs:

1. Authentic: Scholar assessments must be authentic. John Adams Academy uses backward design planning to ensure assessments measure the actual learning that has taken place. Within this model, pretests are given, learning outcomes established, and assessments are designed before any learning activities are introduced. Teachers need to specifically know what Common Core State Standards and other information they want their scholars to attain before they can design the learning steps necessary for mastery of this information. There are less “textbook developed” tests and more teacher created and project-based assessments.

2. Multiple Measures: The Academy utilizes a variety of assessments (i.e. tests, observations, projects, standardized tests, classroom discussions, term papers) to determine scholar achievement.

3. On-going: Scholars need on-going assessments in order to ascertain whether skills and knowledge have been truly mastered. Teachers use formative (specific skills), summative (overall concepts), and portfolio assessments as evidence of scholar achievement.

4. Informative: Assessments should promote and support reflection and self-evaluation on the part of scholars, staff, and parents.

B. Assessment Design

Teachers are trained to identify what Common Core State Standards and other information that scholars are expected to know at the end of the course. The teacher determines the most appropriate type of assessment to measure scholar mastery of a given standard. All scholars take the state mandated assessments, but the assessments designed by teachers are often more valuable because they provide an opportunity for feedback on scholar mastery of content standards prior to the end of the course when there is still an opportunity to re-teach a subject matter until the scholars master it.

C. Mandated Assessments

The Academy shall meet all statewide standards and conduct the required student assessments pursuant to Education Code Sections 60605 and 60851, and any other statewide standards or assessments authorized in statute. The Academy shall participate in the California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress (CAASPP) assessment system and all other state-mandated assessments, including but not limited to the CELDT and PFT.
The Academy tracks scholar progress through grade level multiple measures that provide data regarding academic growth from the beginning to the end of the year. With a heightened awareness of the transition between state testing methods, we are in the process of streamlining multiple measures from K-12 in order to provide meaningful data demonstrating annual academic progress.

The Academy affirms that its methods for measuring student outcomes for State Priorities, as described in Element B of this charter, shall be consistent with the way information is reported on a School Accountability Report Card as required by Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(C).

D. Data Management and Analysis

CAASPP data will be used to help the Academy plan meet its yearly growth goals. John Adams Academy will identify a School Information System (SIS) that has the capacity to create a variety of reports on scholar achievement, including disaggregated data by content strand, scholar subgroup, grade-level, and classroom. The staff is trained on how to interpret standardized test data, and engaged in critical analysis of the data in order to determine how the Academy can address any performance deficiencies or negative data trends. The data analysis is tied to professional development on standards-based instruction, so that teachers can enhance their understanding of scholar performance in light of normative data, and modify their instructional designs accordingly. In this way, staff are continuously challenged to rethink current pedagogical practices to meet the changing needs of new and existing scholar populations. The goal is continuous improvement to achieve the highest possible quality educational program.

John Adams Academy utilizes data from state testing, including the CAASPP, the California Standardized Test (CST) and California Modified Assessment (CMA) to track subgroup progress. The California Department of Education (CDE) website is utilized to gather data on subgroup performance. John Adams Academy tracks and analyzes percent proficient scores of each represented subgroup to ensure growth targets, or Annual Measurable Objectives (AMOs), are met each year and the gap between the highest and lowest performing subgroups is decreasing.

The Academy will close the achievement gap for subgroups by first determining the subgroups which exhibit the greatest differential in performance according to CAASPP test data. The following are strategies and actions taken to decrease any potential achievement gap between subgroups:

- Staff participate in professional development to enhance instructional practices and methods;
Before and/or after school intervention programs are utilized to target specific areas of need. Scholar progress in the intervention programs is monitored either weekly or bi-weekly. Scholar remediation or acceleration will occur as necessary;

- Staff is trained on Multiple Intelligences and best teaching practices;
- Data analysis of subgroup performance takes place upon release of the state test score results. The data will assist the Academy in creating targeted intervention programs and will assist in determining the needs of each subgroup to improve scholar academic performance; and
- Utilization of researched-based instruction such as Open Book (reading and language computer-based program for emergent readers and speakers) and Rosetta Stone (intensive language acquisition program), which includes frequent progress monitoring and opportunities for acceleration.

E. Use and Reporting of Data

The John Adams Academy is a data-driven Academy. Teachers and parents use assessment data to monitor each scholar’s progress in meeting the Common Core State Standards as well as other content knowledge that is required by the Academy.

One tool the John Adams Academy utilizes is scholar assessment data to drive professional development programs for teachers. Another resource is our teacher leadership council. Peer to peer reviews, leadership reviews, and scholar progress helps to inform the data. When teachers are failing to deliver the high caliber of instruction and mentoring necessary for scholar success, this assessment data drives decisions about employee retention. It also drives decisions relative to merit pay for high performing teachers that are based upon the amount of growth in scholar performance from year to year.

Scholars scoring a proficiency level of Standard Not Met, Standard Nearly Met in the content areas tested at their grade levels are assessed and monitored frequently, based on their particular needs. They are also referred to before and after school instructional programs.

All parents are taught how to understand the assessment data for their child and to help their child succeed in meeting the state standards. We view parents as vital and primary partners in their child’s education, and we want them to understand where their child is excelling and where their child needs extra help.

Scholar progress towards skill mastery is documented in standards-based report cards. A parent-teacher conference is held during the first semester. Additional conferences are held on an as-needed basis. Teachers share scholars’ academic, social, emotional, and physical progress with parents. Upper grade scholars participate in conferences, along with their parents, to reinforce scholar responsibility in their own learning process.
Teachers use data to analyze their instructional programs at their particular grade level. Grade level teams meet weekly for this purpose. Each team develops an action plan to address specific grade level needs, as well as individual scholar needs made evident by the results of the assessment data.

Teams are also organized by subject matter to increase communication between the different grade levels. Working in this manner allows us to address the areas of identified need more effectively. Our goal is to close the achievement gap found with economically disadvantaged scholars, English Learners, special education scholars and other significant subgroups.

The Academy complies with all laws establishing minimum and maximum age for public school attendance in charter schools.

The Academy requires scholars who wish to attend the Academy to complete an application form. After admission, scholars are required to submit an enrollment packet, which shall include the following:

- Completion of a scholar registration form;
- Proof of Immunization;
- Home Language Survey;
- Completion of Emergency Medical Information Form;
- Proof of minimum and maximum age requirements, e.g. birth certificate;
- Execution of a master agreement as required by independent study law if the scholar will be participating in independent study.

All scholars who wish to attend the Academy shall be admitted, subject only to capacity at each grade level. Admission to the Academy shall not be determined by the place of residence of the scholar or his or her parent in the State, except as provided in Education Code Section 47605(d)(2) or 51747.3. No test or assessment shall be administered to scholars prior to acceptance and enrollment into the Academy. The Academy conducts outreach efforts as noted in Element G of this charter to ensure the Academy is equally accessible to low achieving and economically disadvantaged scholars and to encourage the enrollment of such scholars.

Public Random Drawing

Applications are accepted during a publicly advertised open enrollment period each year for enrollment in the following school year. Following the open enrollment period each year, applications are counted to determine whether any grade level has received more applications than availability. In the event that this happens, the Academy holds a public random drawing to determine admission for the impacted grade level, with the exception of existing scholars, who are guaranteed admission in the following school year. Admission preferences in the case of a public random drawing shall be given to the following scholars in the following order:

1. Children of staff of the Academy
2. Children and grandchildren of Board members
3. Siblings of existing scholars enrolled in the Academy
4. Children currently enrolled in another John Adams Academies, Inc. school

Further, this policy shall provide admission preference for employees (first preference) and Board members (second preference) who are hired/appointed after the lottery is conducted. The Academy’s waitlist shall be a rolling waitlist that carries over from year-to-year. The Academy shall notify parents/guardians of this policy as part of its regular open enrollment process. Thereafter, parents/guardians will be encouraged to contact the Academy to obtain information about their child’s position on the waitlist.

All applications drawn after reaching capacity in any grade level will be placed on a wait-list for each respective grade level, in order in which they are drawn. If a vacancy occurs, the Academy shall notify the parent/guardian by phone and letter and provide the parents with 72 hours to enroll their scholar in the Academy. If the parent/guardian does not contact the Academy to accept the position for their scholar within this period, the Academy shall contact the parent/guardian for the next scholar on the wait-list for that grade level. The Academy maintains copies of documents relating to the lottery on file for one academic year to demonstrate the fair execution of lottery procedures.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Academy may refine lottery policies and procedures in accordance with policies adopted by the Board of Directors. A copy of the revised policy, which may be designed to improve the Academy’s lottery efforts, shall be provided to the County within 45 calendar days of approval by the Board and prior to the enrollment period of the year in which the revised lottery policy will be implemented.

Public random drawing rules, deadlines, dates and times will be communicated in the application form and on the Academy’s website. Public notice for the date and time of the public random drawing will also be posted once the application deadline has passed. The Academy will also inform parents of all applicants and all interested parties of the rules to be followed during the public random drawing process via mail or email at least two weeks prior to the lottery date.

It is anticipated that the annual audit will be completed within four months of the close of the fiscal year. A copy of the auditor's findings will be forwarded to the County Superintendent of Schools, the State Controller, and the CDE by the 15th of December of each year. The Executive Director, Director of Finance, the Headmaster, along with the audit committee, will review any audit exceptions or deficiencies and report to the Academy’s Board of Directors with recommendations on how to resolve them. The language that follows closely mirrors the language of Education Code Section 48900 et seq. The Academy is committed to annual review of policies and procedures surrounding suspensions and expulsions and, as necessary, modification of the lists of offenses for which scholars are subject to suspension or expulsion.

When the Policy is violated, it may be necessary to suspend or expel a scholar from regular classroom instruction. This policy shall serve as the Academy’s policy and procedures for scholar suspension and expulsion and it may be amended from time to time without the need to amend the charter so long as the amendments comport with legal requirements. The written notice shall be in the native language of the scholar or the scholar’s parent or guardian or, if the scholar is a foster child or youth or a homeless child or youth, the scholar’s educational rights holder, and shall inform him or her of the right to initiate hearing procedures afforded by the Academy for recommended expulsions before the effective date of the action. If the scholar’s parent, guardian or educational rights holder initiates those hearing procedures, the scholar shall remain enrolled and shall not be removed until the Academy issues a final decision. For purposes of this paragraph, “involuntarily removed” includes disenrolled, dismissed, transferred, or terminated, but does not include suspensions subject to the notice and conference procedures stated in this Charter.

The Academy administration shall ensure that scholars and their parents/guardians are notified in writing upon enrollment of all discipline policies and procedures. The notice shall state that this Policy and Procedures are available on request at the Headmaster’s office.

Suspended or expelled scholars shall be excluded from all Academy and Academy-related activities unless otherwise agreed during the period of suspension or expulsion.

At the time of the suspension, an administrator or relevant Dean shall make a reasonable effort to contact the parent/guardian by telephone or in person. Whenever a scholar is suspended, the parent/guardian shall be notified in writing of the suspension and the date of return following suspension. This notice shall state the specific offense committed by the scholar. In addition, the notice may also state the date and time when the scholar may return to the Academy. If Academy officials wish to ask the parent/guardian to confer regarding matters pertinent to the suspension, the notice may request that the parent/guardian respond to such requests without delay.

3. Suspension Time Limits/Recommendation for Expulsion

Suspensions, when not including a recommendation for expulsion, shall not exceed five (5) consecutive school days per suspension. Upon a recommendation of expulsion by the Headmaster or relevant Dean, the scholar and the scholar’s guardian or representative will be invited to a conference to determine if the suspension for the scholar should be extended pending an expulsion hearing. In such instances when the Charter School has determined a suspension period shall be extended, such extension shall be made only after a conference is held with the pupil or the pupil’s parents, unless the pupil and the pupil’s parents fail to attend the conference.

This determination will be made by the Headmaster or relevant Dean upon either of the following: 1) the scholar’s presence will be disruptive to the education process; or 2) the scholar poses a threat or danger to others. Upon either determination, the scholar’s suspension will be extended pending the results of an expulsion hearing.

D. Authority to Expel

A scholar may be expelled either by the Academy’s Board following a hearing before it or by the Academy’s Board upon the recommendation of an Administrative Panel to be assigned by the Board as needed. The Administrative Panel should consist of at least three members who are certificated and neither a teacher of the scholar or a Board member of the Academy’s governing board. The Administrative Panel may recommend expulsion of any scholar found to have committed an expellable offense.

E. Expulsion Procedures

Scholars recommended for expulsion are entitled to a hearing to determine whether the scholar should be expelled. Unless postponed for good cause, the hearing shall be held within thirty (30) school days after the Headmaster or relevant Dean determines that the Scholar has committed an expellable offense.

In the event an Administrative Panel hears the case, it will make a recommendation to the Board for a final decision whether to expel. The hearing shall be held in closed session (complying with all scholar confidentiality rules under FERPA) unless the Scholar makes a written request for a public hearing in open session three (3) days prior to the date of the scheduled hearing.

Written notice of the hearing shall be forwarded to the scholar and the scholar’s parent/guardian at least ten (10) calendar days before the date of the hearing. Upon mailing the notice, it shall be deemed served upon the scholar. The notice shall include:

1. The date and place of the expulsion hearing;
2. A statement of the specific facts, charges and offenses upon which the proposed expulsion is based;
3. A copy of the Academy’s disciplinary rules which relate to the alleged violation;
4. Notification of the scholar’s or parent/guardian’s obligation to provide information about the scholar’s status at the Charter School to any other school district or school to which the scholar seeks enrollment;
5. The opportunity for the scholar and/or the scholar’s parent/guardian to appear in person or to employ and be represented by counsel or a non-attorney advisor;
6. The right to inspect and obtain copies of all documents to be used at the hearing;
7. The opportunity to confront and question all witnesses who testify at the hearing;
8. The opportunity to question all evidence presented and to present oral and documentary evidence on the scholar’s behalf including witnesses.

F. Special Procedures for Expulsion Hearings Involving Sexual Assault or Battery Offenses

The Academy may, upon a finding of good cause, determine that the disclosure of either the identity of the witness or the testimony of that witness at the hearing, or both, would subject the witness to an unreasonable risk of psychological or physical harm. Upon this determination, the testimony of the witness may be presented at the hearing in the form of sworn declarations that shall be examined only by the Academy or the hearing officer. Copies of these sworn declarations, edited to delete the name and identity of the witness, shall be made available to the scholar.

1. The complaining witness in any sexual assault or battery case must be provided with a copy of the applicable disciplinary rules and advised of his/her right to (a) receive five days’ notice of his/her scheduled testimony, (b) have up to two (2) adult support persons of his/her choosing present in the hearing at the time he/she testifies, which may include a parent, guardian, or legal counsel, and (c) elect to have the hearing closed while testifying.

2. The Academy must also provide the victim a room separate from the hearing room for the complaining witness’ use prior to and during breaks in testimony.

3. At the discretion of the entity conducting the expulsion hearing, the complaining witness shall be allowed periods of relief from examination and cross-examination during which he or she may leave the hearing room.
4. The entity conducting the expulsion hearing may also arrange the seating within the hearing room to facilitate a less intimidating environment for the complaining witness.

5. The entity conducting the expulsion hearing may also limit time for taking the testimony of the complaining witness to the hours he/she is normally in school, if there is no good cause to take the testimony during other hours.

6. Prior to a complaining witness testifying, the support persons must be admonished that the hearing is confidential. Nothing in the law precludes the entity presiding over the hearing from removing a support person whom the presiding person finds is disrupting the hearing. The entity conducting the hearing may permit any one of the support persons for the complaining witness to accompany him or her to the witness stand.

7. If one or both of the support persons is also a witness, the Academy must present evidence that the witness’ presence is both desired by the witness and will be helpful to the Academy. The person presiding over the hearing shall permit the witness to stay unless it is established that there is a substantial risk that the testimony of the complaining witness would be influenced by the support person, in which case the presiding official shall admonish the support person or persons not to prompt, sway, or influence the witness in any way. Nothing shall preclude the presiding officer from exercising his or her discretion to remove a person from the hearing whom he or she believes is prompting, swaying, or influencing the witness.

8. The testimony of the support person shall be presented before the testimony of the complaining witness and the complaining witness shall be excluded from the courtroom during that testimony.

9. Especially for charges involving sexual assault or battery, if the hearing is to be conducted in public at the request of the scholar being expelled, the complaining witness shall have the right to have his/her testimony heard in a closed session when testifying at a public meeting would threaten serious psychological harm to the complaining witness and there are no alternative procedures to avoid the threatened harm. The alternative procedures may include videotaped depositions or contemporaneous examination in another place communicated to the hearing room by means of closed-circuit television.

10. Evidence of specific instances of a complaining witness’ prior sexual conduct is presumed inadmissible and shall not be heard absent a determination by the person conducting the hearing that extraordinary circumstances exist requiring the evidence be heard. Before such a determination regarding extraordinary circumstance can be made, the witness shall be provided notice and an opportunity to present opposition to the introduction of the evidence. In the hearing on the admissibility of the evidence, the complaining witness shall be entitled to be represented by a parent, legal counsel, or other support person. Reputation or opinion evidence regarding the sexual behavior of the complaining witness is not admissible for any purpose.

G. Record of Hearing

A record of the hearing shall be made and may be maintained by any means, including electronic recording, as long as a reasonably accurate and complete written transcription of the proceedings can be made.

H. Presentation of Evidence

While technical rules of evidence do not apply to expulsion hearings, evidence may be admitted and used as proof only if it is the kind of evidence on which reasonable persons can rely in the conduct of serious affairs. A recommendation by the Administrative Panel to expel must be supported by substantial evidence that the scholar committed an expellable offense. Findings of fact shall be based solely on the evidence at the hearing. While hearsay evidence is admissible, no decision to expel shall be based solely on hearsay. Sworn declarations may be admitted as testimony from witnesses of whom the Board or Administrative Panel determines that disclosure of their identity or testimony at the hearing may subject them to an unreasonable risk of physical or psychological harm.

If, due to a written request by the expelled scholar, the hearing is held at a public meeting, and the charge is committing or attempting to commit a sexual assault or committing a sexual battery as defined in Education Code Section 48900, a complaining witness shall have the right to have his or her testimony heard in a session closed to the public.

The decision of the Administrative Panel shall be in the form of written findings of fact and a written recommendation to the Board who will make a final determination regarding the expulsion. The final decision by the Board shall be made within ten (10) school days following the conclusion of the hearing. The decision of the Board is final.

If the Administrative Panel decides not to recommend expulsion, the scholar shall immediately be returned to his/her educational program.

I. Written Notice to Expel

The Headmaster or relevant Dean, following a decision of the Board to expel, shall send written notice of the decision to expel, including the Board’s adopted findings of fact, to the scholar or parent/guardian. This notice shall also include the following: (a) Notice of the specific offense committed by the scholar; and (b) Notice of the scholar’s or parent/guardian’s obligation to inform any new district in which the scholar seeks to enroll of the scholar’s status with the Academy.
The Headmaster or relevant Dean shall send a copy of the written notice of the decision to expel to the authorizer. This notice shall include the following: (a) The scholar’s name; and (b) The specific expellable offense committed by the scholar.

J. Disciplinary Records

John Adams Academy shall maintain records of all scholar suspensions and expulsions at John Adams Academy. Such records shall be made available to the authorizer upon request.

K. No Right to Appeal

The scholar shall have no right of appeal from expulsion from John Adams Academy as the John Adams Academy Board’s decision to expel shall be final.

L. Expelled Scholars/Alternative Education

Parents/guardians of scholars who are expelled shall be responsible for seeking alternative education programs including, but not limited to, programs within the County or their school district of residence. John Adams Academy shall work cooperatively with parents/guardians as requested by parents/guardians or by the school district of residence to assist with locating alternative placements during expulsion.

M. Rehabilitation Plans

Scholars who are expelled from the Academy shall be given a rehabilitation plan upon expulsion as developed by the Board at the time of the expulsion order, which may include, but is not limited to, periodic review as well as assessment at the time of review for readmission. The rehabilitation plan should include a date not later than one year from the date of expulsion when the scholar may reapply to the Academy for readmission.

N. Readmission

The decision to readmit a scholar or to admit a previously expelled scholar from another school district or charter school shall be in the sole discretion of the Board following a meeting with the Academy’s Leadership and the scholar and parent/guardian or representative to determine whether the scholar has successfully completed the rehabilitation plan and to determine whether the scholar poses a threat to others or will be disruptive to the school environment. The Headmaster or relevant Dean shall make a recommendation to the Board following the meeting regarding his or her determination. The Board shall then make a final decision regarding readmission during the closed session of a public meeting, reporting out any action taken during closed session consistent with the requirements of the Brown Act. The scholar’s readmission is also contingent upon John Adams Academy’s capacity at the time the scholar seeks readmission.
O. Special Procedures for the Consideration of Suspension and Expulsion of Scholars with Disabilities

1. Notification of SELPA
   The Academy shall immediately notify the SELPA and coordinate the procedures in this policy with the SELPA of the discipline of any scholar with a disability or scholar who the Academy or SELPA would be deemed to have knowledge that the scholar had a disability.

2. Services During Suspension
   Scholars suspended for more than ten (10) school days in a school year shall continue to receive services so as to enable the scholar to continue to participate in the general education curriculum, although in another setting (which could constitute a change of placement and the student’s IEP would reflect this change), and to progress toward meeting the goals set out in the scholar’s IEP/504 Plan; and receive, as appropriate, a functional behavioral assessment and behavioral intervention services and modifications, that are designed to address the behavior violation so that it does not recur. These services may be provided in an interim alternative educational setting.

3. Procedural Safeguards/Manifestation Determination
   Within ten (10) school days of a recommendation for expulsion or any decision to change the placement of a scholar with a disability because of a violation of a code of scholar conduct, the Academy, the parent, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team shall review all relevant information in the scholar’s file, including the scholar’s IEP/504 Plan, any teacher observations, and any relevant information provided by the parents to determine:

   a. If the conduct in question was caused by, or had a direct and substantial relationship to, the scholar’s disability; or

   b. If the conduct in question was the direct result of the local educational agency’s failure to implement the IEP/504 Plan.

   If the Academy, the parent, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team determine that either of the above is applicable for the scholar, the conduct shall be determined to be a manifestation of the scholar’s disability.

   If the Academy, the parent, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team make the determination that the conduct was a manifestation of the scholar’s disability, the IEP/504 Team shall:

   a. Conduct a functional behavioral assessment and implement a behavioral intervention plan for such scholar, provided that the Academy had not conducted such assessment prior to such determination before the behavior that resulted in a change in placement;

b. If a behavioral intervention plan has been developed, review the behavioral intervention plan if the scholar already has such a behavioral intervention plan, and modify it, as necessary, to address the behavior; and

c. Return the scholar to the placement from which the scholar was removed, unless the parent and the Academy agree to a change of placement as part of the modification of the behavioral intervention plan.

If the Academy, the parent, and relevant members of the IEP/504 Team determine that the behavior was not a manifestation of the scholar’s disability and that the conduct in question was not a direct result of the failure to implement the IEP/504 Plan, then the Academy may apply the relevant disciplinary procedures to scholar with disabilities in the same manner and for the same duration as the procedures would be applied to scholars without disabilities.

4. Due Process Appeals
   The parent of a scholar with a disability who disagrees with any decision regarding placement, or the manifestation determination, or the Academy believes that maintaining the current placement of the scholar is substantially likely to result in injury to the scholar or to others, may request an expedited administrative hearing through the Special Education Unit of the Office of Administrative Hearings or by utilizing the dispute provisions of the 504 Policy and Procedures.

   When an appeal relating to the placement of the scholar or the manifestation determination has been requested by either the parent or the Academy, the scholar shall remain in the interim alternative educational setting pending the decision of the hearing officer in accordance with state and federal law, including 20 USC Section 1415(k), until the expiration of the forty-five (45) day time period provided for in an interim alternative educational setting, whichever occurs first, unless the parent and the Academy agree otherwise.

5. Special Circumstances
   Academy personnel may consider any unique circumstances on a case-by-case basis when determining whether to order a change in placement for a scholar with a disability who violates a code of scholar conduct.

   The Headmaster or relevant Dean may remove a scholar to an interim alternative educational setting for not more than forty-five (45) school days without regard to whether the behavior is determined to be a manifestation of the scholar’s disability in cases where a scholar:
a. Carries or possesses a weapon, as defined in 18 USC 930, to or at the academy, on the academy premises, or to or at an academy function;

b. Knowingly possesses or uses illegal drugs, or sells or solicits the sale of a controlled substance, while at the Academy, on Academy premises, or at an Academy function; or

c. Has inflicted serious bodily injury, as defined by 20 USC 1415(k)(7)(D), upon a person while at the Academy, on Academy premises, or at an Academy function.

6. Interim Alternative Educational Setting
The scholar’s interim alternative educational setting shall be determined by the scholar’s IEP/504 Team.

7. Procedures for Scholars Not Yet Eligible for Special Education Services
A scholar who has not been identified as an individual with disabilities pursuant to IDEA and who has violated the Academy’s disciplinary procedures may assert the procedural safeguards granted under this administrative regulation only if the Academy had knowledge that the scholar was disabled before the behavior occurred.

The Academy shall be deemed to have knowledge that the scholar had a disability if one of the following conditions exists:

a. The parent/guardian has expressed concern in writing, or orally if the parent/guardian does not know how to write or has a disability that prevents a written statement, to Academy supervisory or administrative personnel, or to one of the scholar’s teachers, that the scholar is in need of special education or related services.

b. The parent has requested an evaluation of the scholar.

c. The scholar’s teacher, or other Academy personnel, has expressed specific concerns about a pattern of behavior demonstrated by the scholar, directly to the director of special education or to other Academy supervisory personnel.

If the Academy knew or should have known the scholar had a disability under any of the three (3) circumstances described above, the scholar may assert any of the protections available to IDEA-eligible scholars with disabilities, including the right to stay-put.

If the Academy had no basis for knowledge of the scholar’s disability, it shall proceed with the proposed discipline. The Academy shall conduct an expedited evaluation if requested by the parents; however, the scholar shall remain in the education placement determined by the Academy pending the results of the evaluation.
The Academy shall not be deemed to have knowledge that the scholar had a disability if the parent has not allowed an evaluation, refused services, or if the scholar has been evaluated and determined to not be eligible.
ELEMENT K: EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT SYSTEMS

Governing Law: The manner by which staff members of the charter schools will be covered by the State Teachers' Retirement System, the Public Employees’ Retirement System, or federal social security. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(K).

All classified employees participate in the federal social security system. Teachers participate in a 403(b) retirement plan according to employee policies developed and adopted by the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors may offer STRS and/or PERS retirement options to employees in the future, as applicable to the position, and according to Board policies. The Executive Director and/or Director of Finance is responsible for ensuring that appropriate arrangements for retirement coverage are made for all employees.
ELEMENT L: PUBLIC SCHOOL ATTENDANCE ALTERNATIVES

Governing Law: The public school attendance alternatives for pupils residing within the school district who choose not to attend charter schools. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(L).

No scholar may be required to attend the Academy. Scholars who reside within the District who choose not to attend the Academy may attend school within the District according to District policy or at another school district or school within the District through the District’s intra and inter-district policies. Parents and guardians of each scholar enrolled in the Academy will be informed on admissions forms that the scholars have no right to admission in a particular school of a local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the Academy, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.
ELEMENT M: EMPLOYEE RETURN RIGHTS

_Governing Law:_ The rights of an employee of the school district upon leaving the employment of the school district to work in a charter school and of any rights of return to the school district after employment at a charter school. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(M)

No public school district employee shall be required to work at the Academy. Persons employed by the Academy are not considered employees of the District for any purpose whatsoever. Employees of the District who resign from District employment to work at the Academy and who later wish to return to the District shall be treated the same as any other former District employee seeking reemployment. The Academy shall not have any authority to confer any rights to return on District employees. However, District employees may have rights under District collective bargaining agreements, procedures and policies as they may be amended from time to time.

Sick or vacation leave or years of service credit at the District or any other school district will not be transferred to the Academy. Employment by the Academy provides no rights of employment at any other entity, including any rights in the case of closure of the Academy.
ELEMENT N: DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Governing Law: The procedures to be followed by the charter school and the entity granting the charter to resolve disputes relating to the provisions of the charter. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(N).

It is anticipated that the County and the Academy will maintain and enjoy a mutually beneficial and cooperative relationship.

The Board of Directors maintains policies and processes consistent with this Charter for airing and resolving internal and external disputes.

Internal Dispute Resolution

The Board has created an internal dispute resolution procedure that is binding on scholars, parents, volunteers, Academy personnel, and Board members. All members of the Academy community are provided with a copy of the Academy’s internal dispute resolution procedure and will agree to work within it. The Board shall have authority to make final determinations regarding all internal disputes.

The County agrees to refer all complaints regarding the Academy’s operations to the Headmaster for resolution in accordance with the Academy’s adopted policies. In the event that the policies and processes fail to resolve the dispute, the County and the El Dorado County Board of Education agree not to intervene in the dispute without the consent of the Academy’s Board of Directors unless the matter directly relates to one of the reasons specified in law for which a charter may be revoked.

Disputes Between the Academy and the County

The Academy recognizes that it cannot bind the County to a dispute resolution procedure to which the County does not agree. The following policy is intended as a starting point for a discussion of dispute resolution procedures. The Academy is willing to consider changes to the process outlined below as suggested by the County.

The Academy and the County will be encouraged to attempt to resolve any disputes with the County amicably and reasonably without resorting to formal procedures.

In the event of any dispute arising between the Academy and the County regarding the misinterpretation, misapplication, or violation of the Charter, representatives (or designees) of the County and the Academy shall meet and confer with the objective of resolving such disputes within fifteen (15) working days of the written request of either party. If within seven (7) days after the parties have met and conferred, or such longer period as may be agreed upon by the parties, the dispute cannot be resolved by the parties to their mutual satisfaction, the County and... the Academy shall then convene a committee composed of two members of the Board of Education for the County, two members of the Academy’s Board of Directors, along with one staff member from both the County and the Academy. The committee shall meet within thirty (30) days, or such longer period as may be agreed upon by the parties, to resolve the dispute to the mutual satisfaction of the parties.

If the committee convened pursuant to the preceding paragraph is unable to resolve any dispute between the parties within fourteen (14) days, or such longer period as may be agreed upon by the parties, such disputes shall be submitted to mediation. The parties shall meet to determine the format of the mediation session and select a mutually acceptable mediator to facilitate resolution of the dispute. If no agreement on the mediator is reached within five (5) days, then the parties shall request the state mediation/conciliation services to provide a list of seven (7) mediators from which the parties shall strike names alternatively until only one (1) name remains, which person shall be the mediator.

The costs of the mediator shall be split equally between the County and the Academy. If mediation does not resolve the dispute either party may pursue any other remedy available under the law. All timelines and procedures in this section may be revised upon mutual written agreement of the County and the Academy.
ELEMENT 0: SCHOOL CLOSURE PROCEDURES

Governing Law: The procedures to be used if the charter school closes. The procedures shall ensure a final audit of the charter school to determine the disposition of all assets and liabilities of the charter school, including plans for disposing of any net assets and for the maintenance and transfer of pupil records. Education Code Section 47605(b)(5)(O).

Closure of the Academy will be documented by official action of the Board of Directors. The action will identify the reason for closure. The official action will also identify an entity and person or persons responsible for closure-related activities.

The Academy will promptly notify parents and scholars of the Academy, the El Dorado County Office of Education, the Academy’s SELPA, the retirement systems in which the Academy’s employees participate, and the California Department of Education of the closure as well as the effective date of the closure. This notice will also include the name(s) of and contact information for the person(s) to whom reasonable inquiries may be made regarding the closure; the scholars’ school districts of residence; and the manner in which parents/guardians may obtain copies of scholar records, including specific information on completed courses and credits that meet graduation requirements.

The Academy will ensure that the notification to the parents and scholars of the Academy of the closure provides information to assist parents and scholars in locating suitable alternative programs. This notice will be provided promptly following the Board's decision to close the Academy.

The Academy will also develop a list of scholars in each grade level and the classes they have completed, together with information on the scholars’ districts of residence, which they will provide to the entity responsible for closure-related activities.

As applicable, the Academy will provide parents, scholars and the County with copies of all appropriate scholar records and will otherwise assist scholars in transferring to their next school. All transfers of scholar records will be made in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (“FERPA”) 20 U.S.C. § 1232(g). The Academy will ask the County to store original records of Academy scholars. All scholar records of the Academy shall be transferred to the County upon closure. If the County will not or cannot store the records, the Academy shall work with the County Office of Education to determine a suitable alternative location for storage.

All state assessment results, special education records, and personnel records will be transferred to and maintained by the entity responsible for closure-related activities in accordance with applicable law.
As soon as reasonably practical, the Academy will prepare final financial records. The Academy will also have an independent audit completed within six months after closure. The Academy will pay for the final audit. The audit will be prepared by a qualified Certified Public Accountant selected by the Academy and will be provided to the County promptly upon its completion. The final audit will include an accounting of all financial assets, including cash and accounts receivable and an inventory of property, equipment, and other items of material value, an accounting of the liabilities, including accounts payable and any reduction in apportionments as a result of audit findings or other investigations, loans, and unpaid staff compensation, and an assessment of the disposition of any restricted funds received by or due to the Academy.

The Academy will complete and file any annual reports required pursuant to Education Code section 47604.33.

On closure of the Academy, all assets of the Academy, including but not limited to all leaseholds, personal property, intellectual property and all ADA apportionments and other revenues generated by scholars attending the Academy, remain the sole property of the Academy and shall be distributed in accordance with the Articles of Incorporation upon the dissolution of the non-profit public benefit corporation to another California public educational entity. Any assets acquired from the County or County property will be promptly returned upon Academy closure to the County. The distribution shall include return of any grant funds and restricted categorical funds to their source in accordance with the terms of the grant or state and federal law, as appropriate, which may include submission of final expenditure reports for entitlement grants and the filing of any required Final Expenditure Reports and Final Performance Reports, as well as the return of any donated materials and property in accordance with any conditions established when the donation of such materials or property was accepted.

On closure, the Academy shall remain solely responsible for all liabilities arising from the operation of the Academy.

As the Academy is operated by John Adams Academy, Inc., a non-profit public benefit corporation, should the corporation dissolve with the closure of the Academy, the Board will follow the procedures set forth in the California Corporations Code for the dissolution of a non-profit public benefit corporation and file all necessary filings with the appropriate state and federal agencies.

As shown by the Budget in the Appendix D, John Adams Academy will build up a reserve of funds to which can be utilized for any expenses associated with the closure procedures identified above.
MISCELLANEOUS CHARTER REQUIREMENTS

At a minimum, these policies shall have coverage of $1 million per occurrence and $3 million aggregate. The County Board of Education and the County shall be named as an additional insured on all insurance policies of the Academy. The Academy shall provide evidence of the above insurance coverage to the County upon request. The Academy shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless the County for damages resulting from the acts of the Academy. The County shall not be responsible for the payment of any cost associated with the Academy’s insurance coverage.

Administrative Services

_Governing Law:_ The manner in which administrative services of the school are to be provided. _Education Code Section 47605(g)._

The Executive Director, the Support Services Team, and the Headmaster assume the lead responsibility for administering the Academy under the policies adopted by the Board of Directors. The Academy may contract with an appropriate third-party (such as Dr. David Guthrie of Education Synergy Consulting) for a part of or up-to-all all “back-office” administrative services, including but not limited to financial management, accounting, payroll, and human resource services.

Other Service Providers

John Adams Academy may also have a need to contract for outside services in the following areas: curriculum development services, management services, marketing public relations and advertising services, technology services etc. Although the Public Contract Code does not apply to charter schools, the Board of Directors will go through an informal bidding process before selecting any vendors that would potentially provide any non-professional services if the value of the goods or services exceeds $10,000 per year.
The Academy maintains policies that ensure internal control sufficient to achieve sound fiscal practices and clear delineations of responsibility for business affairs. The Academy will promptly respond to all reasonable inquiries, including inquiries regarding its financial records.

FACILITIES

Governing Law: The facilities to be utilized by the school. The description of facilities to be used by the charter school shall specify where the school intends to locate. Education Code Section 47605(g).

The Academy has not finalized purchase or lease of a facility until confirmation of approval by an authorizing agency. The Academy is in process of negotiating for the purchase of a property at 1102 Investment Blvd, El Dorado Hills, CA, 95762. The facility is located in the El Dorado Hills Business Park and includes approximately 75,000 square feet of building space. Based on existing facility space we anticipate initially approximately 38 classrooms, a library, multipurpose room, stage, rooms for music and drama, elective classrooms, teachers’ lounge, various specialty labs, administrative offices and playground spaces.

The facility meets ADA guidelines and is in compliance with all applicable state and local guidelines.

In addition to the El Dorado Hills facility, John Adams Academy reserves the right to establish and maintain resource centers and meeting spaces for the purpose of serving students who are partially or exclusively served through independent study or online instruction, which shall be located in accordance with applicable law.

TRANSPORTATION

No transportation to and from the Academy will be provided for scholars by the Academy except as required by law.

IMPLEMENTATION, RENEWAL, OR AMENDMENT OF CHARTER

The Academy may request from the County a renewal, material revision, or amendment of the Charter at any time prior to expiration. The County agrees to hear and render a decision regarding a renewal, material revision, or amendment to the Charter pursuant to the criteria and standards as specified in Education Code Sections 47605 and 47607, as applicable, and its implementing regulations.

SEVERABILITY
If any provision or any part of this agreement is for any reason held to be invalid and/or unenforceable, or contrary to public policy, law, or statute, and/or ordinance, the remainder of this agreement shall not be affected thereby and shall remain valid and fully enforceable.

POTENTIAL CIVIL LIABILITY EFFECTS ON THE COUNTY

Governing Law: Potential civil liability effects, if any, upon the school and upon the District. Education Code Section 47605(g).

Intent

This statement is intended to fulfill the terms of Education Code Section 47605(g) and provides information regarding the proposed operation and potential effects of the Academy on the County, in place of the District, as the authorizing agency.

Civil Liability

The Academy is operated by John Adams Academies, Inc., a California non-profit public benefit corporation. This corporation is organized and operated exclusively for charitable purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and California Revenue and Taxation Code Section 23701(d).

Pursuant to Education Code Section 47604(c), an entity that grants a charter to a charter school operated by or as a non-profit public benefit corporation shall not be liable for the debts or obligations of the charter school or for claims arising from the performance of acts, errors or omissions by the charter school if the authority has complied with all oversight responsibilities required by law. The Academy shall work diligently to assist the County in meeting any and all oversight obligations under the law, including monthly meetings, reporting, or other requested protocol to ensure the County shall not be liable for the operation of the Academy.

Further, the Academy and the County shall enter into a memorandum of understanding, wherein the Academy shall indemnify the County for the actions of the Academy under this charter.

The corporate bylaws of John Adams Academies, Inc. provide for indemnification of the Board of Directors, officers, agents, and employees, and the Academy maintains general liability insurance, Directors and Officers insurance, and fidelity bonding to secure against financial risks.

As stated above, insurance amounts are determined by recommendation of the Academy’s insurance company for schools of similar size, location, and scholar population. The County is named an additional insured on the general liability insurance of the Academy.
The Board of Directors of John Adams Academies, Inc. institutes appropriate risk management practices, including screening of employees, establishing codes of conduct for scholars, and dispute resolution.

Potential Benefits to the County:

The John Adams Academy benefits the County in a number of ways:

1. The Academy pays the County an oversight fee to compensate the County for any costs associated with overseeing the Academy up to one (1) percent of its revenues pursuant to Education Code Section 47613(a).

2. The County teachers and staff can participate in professional development opportunities offered by the Academy.

3. Long-term, the Academy will be eligible to tap into potentially significant state school bond funds for Charter School construction. This could bring millions of dollars to the county from a funding source that the County could not tap on its own.

4. The Academy demonstrates that the County is in alignment with the State and federal educational reform efforts, which might create eligibility for additional state and federal funding or Foundation funding.

Oversight:

John Adams Academy and the County will jointly develop an annual site visitation process and protocol to enable the County to gather information needed to confirm the Academy's performance and compliance with the terms of this charter. However, it is recognized and agreed by the Academy that the County may make unplanned and unscheduled random inspections of the Academy at any time in accordance with Education Code Section 47607.
CONCLUSION

By approving this charter petition, the El Dorado County Board of Education will be fulfilling the intent of the Charter Schools Act of 1992 to improve scholar learning; increase learning opportunities for all scholars with special emphasis on expanded learning opportunities for all scholars who are identified as academically low achieving; create new professional opportunities for teachers; and provide parents and scholars with expanded choices in education and following the directive of law to encourage the creation of charter schools. John Adams Academy is eager to work independently, yet cooperatively with the County to set the highest standard for what a charter school should and can be. To this end, John Adams Academy pledges to work cooperatively with the County to answer any concerns over this document and to present the County with the strongest possible charter petition to commence July 1, 2017 and expire June 30, 2022.
