Welcome to Suzanne M. Henseler Quidnessett Elementary School.

Quid is a K – 5 elementary school in North Kingstown, RI. We are both a Feinstein Leadership School and a Title I school. We serve approximately 275 eager and energetic students.

Our philosophy is to cultivate a school community that embraces families and community. Parents look forward to quarterly “Lunch with your Child” luncheons sponsored by our Office of Family Learning, as well as numerous family nights sponsored by grade level teams and our PTO. We encourage community members to meld into our daily life as well by participating in such activities as student mentoring, literacy and library volunteers.

During the year, students experience a wealth of programs and activities that reach far beyond the curriculum to expand their horizons. For example, musically, Grade 5 students participate in band and strings, as well as joining Grades 3 and 4 in chorus.

Quid has a strong focus on Wellness. Afterschool fitness programs are offered through the Office of Family Learning and we participate in a fruit and vegetable program ensuring our students enjoy a variety of fresh fruit and veggie snacks each day. We are committed to ensuring a healthy and active lifestyle for every student while they are in school.

Quidnessett provides a rigorous curriculum, enriching afterschool programs, a focus on health and wellness and a nurturing and caring environment that enables our children to learn and grow into respectful, responsible and caring individuals. We encourage you to come to Quid and share in the joy we share with each other every day.
