

NOW HIRING FOR 2019-2020

Middle School Tanach Teacher

Kohelet Yeshiva Middle School, an educationally progressive, K-8 Modern Orthodox Day School located in Merion Station, Pennsylvania, seeks a dynamic and talented educator for the position of Tanach Teacher for the 2019-2020 school year. The Tanach Teacher position is envisioned as a full-day position encompassing all Tanach instruction for a multi-age middle school learning environment.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will be able to:

- Inspire Middle School students in developmentally appropriate ways to connect to Hashem through the study of Torah and the performance of mitzvot.
- Lead a mixed-age and ability class along with other teaching team members.
- Work collaboratively to design and implement project-based and integrated curricula.
- Utilize research-based best practices in subject instruction to create rigorous, dynamic, skill-building learning environments for middle schoolers, and collaborate with all colleagues for integration of General and Judaic Studies
- Demonstrate excellent classroom management skills and create a positive classroom culture that fosters student ownership, creativity, and problem solving.
- Assess students in a variety of ways, and use data to assist student growth, self-reflection and instruction.
- Determine students' academic and social emotional learning goals, ensure they're met, and communicate them to colleagues, parents and students regularly.
- Be active in the school community (attend events at KYMS, including professional development, and open house events, among others).

Qualifications

The successful candidate will:

- Role model for students how to live a life steeped in ahavat Hashem and yir'at Hashem both inside and outside of school.
- Have an undergraduate or graduate degree in education.
- Have a graduate degree in Judaic Studies or semicha.
- Feel comfortable teaching and developing Judaic studies curricula in a multi-age, differentiated, learning environment.
- Be comfortable with Ivrit.
- Have prior experience with creating child-centered learning activities, and classroom teaching experience with MS students.

- Demonstrate a reflective mindset, intellectual curiosity and leadership potential.
- Be excited by a fast-paced all-hands-on-deck “startup” culture of a new school.
- Desire to take risks in an environment where the success and failure of all initiatives will be publically shared, so as to advance the field of Jewish Education in North America.

Compensation will be competitive and commensurate with experience.
