“I am extremely proud of the staff, students, and parents of Rowland High School as this award is reflective of all stakeholders in our system,” said Principal Mitchell Brunyer. “The efforts to promote, provide access, and support our honors curriculum has been an ongoing process involving the entire school community. At this point almost half of the entire student body is enrolled in an honors-level course.”
2019 ProStart Innovation Team Wins $15,000 in Scholarship Money at the ProStart State Innovation Cup

Each year ProStart hosts an competition called the California Innovation Cup. Teams from all over the state compete in 15 minute presentation of their innovation project. Students have to prepare a written portfolio with research and complete business plans of a new concept that will improve the restaurant industry. In addition to the written portfolio, students must present a 7 minute speech to a panel of industry judges and have a Q&A session for up to 8 minutes after their presentation.

Rowland High School’s 2019 ProStart Innovation team was made up of 5 students, Miles Martinez, Ryan Davidson, Sophia Htay, Jenna Huie and Justin Ramirez. The five students created their innovation concept, Sweet Straws. Sweet Straws is an Assembly Bill 1884 compliant plastic alternative straw. The plastic alternative is made from compostable fruit peels, specifically oranges, bananas and lemons. The science component was researched and explained by Miles Martinez, an AP Environmental Science student. Next, the students researched the consumer demand for eco-friendly products leading to the passage of AB 1884. This research was done by Justin Ramirez and Sophia Htay who are both ProStart students. A full business plan with operation costs, marketing costs, affiliate incentives and profit margins were calculated by Ryan Davidson, an Advanced Accounting student. Finally, Jenna Huie, created a Power Point presentation and explained the target market research. Jenna is a 2nd year Gourmet and International Foods student. The ProStart Innovation team wrote a 12 page business proposal, presented a 7 minute business pitch to a panel of industry judges and defended their Sweet Straw concept in an 8 minute Q&A session with the judges. Rowland High School's electives were fully showcased in an academic way throughout the competition to show how business, science and technology, politics and food can all combine to create a real world need for an eco-friendly plastic alternative straw. The ProStart Innovation team took 3rd place and won $15,000 in scholarship money.

2019 California ProStart Culinary Cup

ProStart hosts a culinary competition called the California Culinary Cup each year. Teams from all over the state compete in a 90 minute culinary competition. Students have to prepare a 3 course meal in the specified time to demonstrate their use of flavor, texture, color, knife skills and proper kitchen sanitation. In addition to the live cooking, students must prepare a portfolio with written recipes that are sited in MLA format, a sample menu and a cost sheet with industry accepted profit margins and all calculations.

The 2019 ProStart Culinary Team members were Andrew Lu, Teresa Chang, Penny Mahadamorangsak and Jose Ruvalcaba. These students created a three course menu featuring local and fresh ingredients. Not only did the students need to ensure that their menu had balanced flavors and textures, they needed to show case their technical skills in the kitchen as well. The menu consisted of a jicama shell taco that was sliced paper thin and filled with a spice encrusted, coconut seared tilapia garnished with a mango slaw, avocado cream and chimichurri sauce. The entree was a seared duck breast with a kumquat chipotle glaze that was accompanied by a roasted stuffed poblano. The dessert was a variation of the classic French horn that was a churro cone filled with a coconut pastry cream and garnished with a beautiful hibiscus flower made of chocolate ganache, passion fruit coulis and hibiscus sauce. The three course meal was prepared in under an hour and judged by Penny Davidi, a celebrity chef. In addition to the cooking, the students had to prepare a full financial calculation of the cost of each ingredient, recipe cost, menu cost, and profit margins. The ProStart Culinary team placed 5th out of 28 schools from across the state winning $5,000 in scholarship money.

Recycling Water is Important Chemistry

Mrs. Hier’s Chemistry and AP Chemistry students attended a field trip to the largest Groundwater Replenishment System in the world this past February. The GWRS in Fountain Valley California is a state of the art facility where students learned about managing our precious resource, micro filtration, reverse osmosis and UV light and hydrogen peroxide water treatment. Reclaimed water is purified at the GWRS to near distilled standards before it is pumped into injection wells that increase ground water supplies in Orange County and hold back sea water intrusion. The highlight of the trip was hard hat tour of the plant to get an up close look at the amazing technology and engineering. Funding for the field trip was provided by a WeWAC grant from the Walnut Valley and Rowland Water districts, designed to increase awareness of the importance of water in Southern California.

Maker Week

During the first week of March, a team of Rowland High School students hosted Maker Week, a week of student run workshops on teaching about hands-on projects. As experienced makers in succulent propagation (Anthony Tan), computer building (Wesley Hu), origami (Ginny Vong), hydraulic robots (Nathan Jong), and drone building (Joshua Bicera & Zion Yambot), these students wanted to spread their love for hands-on projects and inspire others to make. With over 50 attendees and overwhelming support for this often invisible aspect of Rowland, this event was a wild success! If you missed the event, don't worry, these students plan on bringing it back next year so stay tuned. The team plans on turning Maker Week into an annual event, which can contribute to Rowland High School's DIY/maker culture.
To coincide with National College Signing Day, Rowland senior students were celebrated and acknowledged on their plans after high school. Students were given a senior wish pack that included treats and advice on surviving college, military or trade schools. Board member Lynn Ebenkamp helped pass out Otter Pops, while RUSD Board President Donna Freedman and Assistant Superintendent Alex Flores were having fun joining in the festivities.
