To our Royal School Ohana,

As we continue to help our students to be effective and ethical users of technology, we at Royal School are also learning new and different ways of utilizing computers, tablets, smart boards and other forms of media and technology to teach, learn and communicate.

This year, we are excited to announce the opening of a new line of communication through Twitter! The school Twitter account will help us to share out some of the amazing things that are happening with our faculty and students, as well as keep our community informed of events and activities.

Because student safety is our first concern, we will work to ensure that our Twitter page and posts will follow Department of Education and school level policies. Tweets will be posted by school level administrators. While pictures will be used at times, we will honor the agreement with those who do not wish for their child to appear in any school publications. We welcome any parents or guardians with concerns to come and speak with us.

We hope to have you join us on our journey! Our Twitter "handle" (name) is TheRoyalSchoolHI. If you need help in creating a Twitter account, please let us know. We invite you to follow, retweet and like our tweets as Royal School moves forward in our digital world!

Sincerely,
