Dear St. Elizabeth Families,

The weather forecast for tomorrow morning is concerning due to a prediction of snow accumulation and icy road conditions. Just a reminder to please use caution if we are open. As a school, we have students from many communities and each is different when it comes to road care and plowing. School is also closed on Monday 1/21 as it is a federal holiday.

Tomorrow, our 2nd graders will lead our prayer service honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The children have been practicing and if you are available, please join us in the Church at 1:30 to share in this event. If we are closed, the service will be on Tuesday.

Today you will receive registration materials for the upcoming school year. Please try to have materials back no later than 2/15/19. If you need additional materials, please check our website. Please invite your neighbors and friends to visit us on 1/27 or 1/30 for our Open House. Also, like us on Facebook as that gets our information out to more people. If needed, we will expand our Pre-K 4 program to accommodate new families.

Please check our website for all the updates and activities we have planned for Catholic Schools Week for your children. I will send reminders next week about activities and the non-uniform days.

Stay safe and warm as we brace for two snow events this weekend.

Sincerely,

Karen A. Lewis
