

PHILLY PARENTS DEFEND CHARTER SCHOOLS

MAY 14, 2019

9 AM CITY HALL

OUR VOTES COUNT!

70,000 Philadelphia students attend charter schools—one-third of all public school students in the city. More than 27,000 students applied to charter schools this year. Yet many city officials dismiss charters, or even call to ban new schools.

Why ignore a full third of all public school students? At the School District's annual budget hearing on May 14, it's time to make our voices heard. Join families from across the city to tell City Council how much charter schools matter to you!

CHARTER SCHOOLS ARE PUBLIC SCHOOLS!

WE CAN'T WAIT—GREAT SCHOOLS NOW!
