Thank You

As we are wrapping up yet another fall semester and about to welcome a new year, the counseling department wants to thank our teachers, instructional aides, health office staff, secretaries, and administrators for all your efforts in working with students and their families. We all understand that as human beings, life can get complicated with scenarios that either have an easy quick fix or the solution remains unseen and the timing is unknown. Nevertheless as the community that we are, we don't hesitate to support our students and even our colleagues in their time of need.

In our line of work, we all have the privilege to work with the youth; to teach them, to inspire them, to bring loving correction when needed, to bring them guidance, provide healing, provide hope, to celebrate them, to comfort them, to hold them accountable, to teach them to face life, to be strong, to be brave, to not quit and keep trying. We have a unique platform in which we have a huge impact in our student's lives. This is why many of us have chosen to work in education. At times it's not easy. Yet, we never give up for we've been obedient to our calling. Thank you for all of your hard work and know that it has not gone unnoticed.
