

Dominic Marino Jumps into Action!

On Sunday, September 23rd, 2018 Dominic Marino came to work as he usually does. However, this day was unlike any other that came before. During a meal at the Creek Road residence, one of the individuals began choking on a piece of bread and was trying to cough it up. When he stopped coughing, Dominic jumped into action and began performing abdominal thrusts, and the bread was dislodged.

Dominic was hired to DDI just over three months ago as a Community Instructor. The manager of the Creek Road residence, Catherine Young, describes Dominic as someone “who always comes to work on time and ready for whatever the day brings. He continues to build a rapport with the ladies and gentlemen of the house.”

In addition to being a certified first aid and CPR Community Instructor, Dominic also serves as a lifeguard for the Creek Road residence as well as other IRAs in the agency. Thanks to Dominic’s quick action, the individual who was choking was evaluated and is doing just fine.

Special thanks to Dominic for truly being a person inspired by purpose!
