Internet Safety Advice for Parents

1. Discover the Internet together

Be the one to introduce your child to the Internet. For both parent and child, it is an advantage to discover the Internet together. Try to find web sites that are exciting and fun so that together you achieve a positive attitude to Internet exploration. This could make it easier to share both positive and negative experiences in the future.

2. Agree with your child rules for Internet use in your home

Try to reach an agreement with your child on the guidelines which apply to Internet use in your household. Here are some tips to get started:

- Discuss when and for how long it is acceptable for your child to use the Internet
- Agree how to treat personal information (name, address, telephone, e-mail)
- Discuss how to behave towards others when gaming, chatting, e-mailing or messaging

Agree what type of sites and activities are OK or not OK in our family

3. Encourage your child to be careful when disclosing personal information

4. Talk about the risks associated with meeting online "friends" in person

Summer Reading

Summer is fast approaching! With that said, we would like to remind you to please continue reading with your child at home. Our local library will be having fun and exciting reading programs for students of all ages. Please visit their site or walk on over and apply for a library card!

Update Information

We are excited to announce the online enrollment update for students returning in 2019-2020 school year! This process allows you the opportunity to update important demographic, medical, and emergency information for your child. The system will also allow families to electronically sign the annual permission forms. It is important to remember that keeping your child's information up to date is crucial in providing the best resources available and help establish a safe school environment. Please visit the parent portal.

Parenting Tip

You will always be an influence in your child's life.

Parents often feel like their kids would rather listen to anyone else but them. At times, it may feel as though their kids are just ignoring them, but lessons you teach them will stay with them especially when you are not around. Take the time to talk with you kids especially when they invite you over. Take an interest in the conversation by turning off media and making eye contact. Kids listen even more when parents take the time to listen back.

Mr. William Edstrom—Crossing Guard

Farewell Wishes to Mr. Bill our Crossing Guard! He has been serving our community for the past 11 years and now it's time for him to hang up his gear. We want to  and say "Thank you" for always keeping our families safe.
