Parent Conferences

The Salem staff was in agreement that this week gave teachers, parents, principal, and support staff a wonderful opportunity to talk about where each and every child is now and how to help them meet success in the coming months. When parents and school staff work as partners to support children academically, socially, and emotionally great things happen.

They Did It Again

The Salem PTO once again went above and beyond to recognize the efforts of the faculty. During the week of parent conferences, students got dismissed early but our staff puts in long hours each day. They took special care to collect and analyze the work of each student in preparation for a conference with each family. Committee Chairperson, Jennifer Whipple, with the support of the PTO put together snack bags for staff to enjoy throughout the week. The staff greatly appreciated the treats.

PBIS is SOARing at Salem

This week Mrs. Deitelbaum visited each fourth-grade class for a mini-lesson from our PBIS (Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports) program focusing on the expectation of being safe. Students helped revise some of the expectations and create posters to display them. In the coming weeks, Mrs. Deitelbaum will bring several 4th-graders with her to each of the other classrooms in kindergarten through third grade to help in spreading the expectations throughout the school.
