Edward L. Moore is a motivational speaker, certified life coach, and author of the breakout bestselling book, No Excuses: When Failure Is No Longer An Option. As a passionate believer in allowing absolutely no excuses for anything less than your best, Mr. Moore consistently empowers his audience with the practical skills to achieve the dream of actualizing their ultimate potential in all areas.

Mr. Moore is no stranger to the importance of taking personal accountability. Despite being abandoned by substance-abusing parents and growing up surrounded by drugs, gangs, violence, and fast money, Mr. Moore knew early on that he was purposed for more. After submitting to a sobering evaluation of his direction, he accepted responsibility for his own choices, and overcame the self-imposed limitations that once stood between him and his destiny. Unfulfilled with mediocrity, he set out to change the trajectory of his life by embarking on a journey of self-improvement and self-mastery. As a result, the NO EXCUSES philosophy was born. His mantra stresses the importance of taking personal accountability to create the life that you desire, by refusing to allow failure to be an option. He immediately began implementing this thought pattern into all areas of his growth process, and began reaping the benefits in droves.

For the past two decades, Mr. Moore has dedicated his life to working with individuals to identify and eliminate destructive attitudes and patterns of thinking that impede personal and professional success. He now strategically imparts these skills into people from all ages and backgrounds, from "at-risk" youth and students to new entrepreneurs, businesses, and corporations. He continues to spread his philosophy and story with audiences worldwide, providing the skills needed to live the life we dream of!
