

Learning a new word

First grade Wesley students repeat the word “entrepreneur” after a Crowe volunteer talked to them about what an entrepreneur is. It was part of a visit made to District 4 Schools by Junior Achievement. More photos inside.

SUBMITTED PHOTO Addison Independent

Junior Achievement comes to District 4 schools

Addison School District 4 students at Ardmore, Lincoln and Wesley School learned about economics through Junior Achievement's JA in a Day program on Friday, November 9.

JA works with schools and businesses to put volunteer business professionals in the classroom, teaching JA's financial literacy, work readiness, and entrepreneurship curriculum. For Friday's coordinated effort, 131 Crowe LLP employees worked with 1351 students in 74 classrooms in five DuPage County schools, three of which were in Addison. The grade-specific programs--titled Our Families (1st grade), Our Community (2nd grade), Our City (3rd grade), Our Region (4th grade), and Our Nation (5th grade)--help volunteers introduce students to age-appropriate economics concepts through a variety of activities.

A Crowe volunteer and a Wesley fifth grader demonstrate a simple job interview. After that, students practiced introducing themselves and giving handshakes to one another.

SUBMITTED PHOTOS Addison Independent

These fifth graders at Wesley School play the 'Get the Job' game.

This second grader prepares a donut as part of an exercise that illustrates mass production of goods.

First grade Wesley students putting stickers on a map of their neighborhood.